ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1911. PRICE TWO CENTS.

AN EXCEPTIONALLY LOW PRICE FOR A RARELY BEAUTIFUL PIECE.

It has seldom been our privilege to offer a value so closely approaching the "sensational" as the dresser illustrated and described below—on its intrinsic Titus merit it should easily bring a third more.

While the unusual size of the heavy plate mirror will be remarked at once it should be remembered that the dresser is

DULL FINISH MAHOGANY

—it is ALL mahogany, which is certainly the King of woods for furniture. The drawer knobs are of mahogany also, giving a touch of dignified simplicity which is, however, most effective.

Installed in the chamber it adds artistic beauty to the entire decorative scheme. Only through the Titus methods of buying and selling are we enabled to quote so low a price for the dresser as - - - - - - - - $24.75

HARD WORK TO DO MUCH BUSINESS.

Legislators Recovering from Squantum Aftermath.

Governor's Appointment of a Relative Causes Comment.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 27.—This being "the day after," there was not much business in the legislative halls. It was a beautiful time down at Squantum, but there are some who regret that the celebration did not end there. One of the members is appearing with a facial decoration which he did not display yesterday, and which is the result of some Republicans and Democrats in a chummy mood going to a hotel in the evening, and meeting an ex-prize fighter. The manner in which the legislative members stood by each other regardless of party affiliations is a subject of conversation at the capitol today.

Another subject which is being discussed is Governor Pothier's turn down of James Roy, one of the factory inspectors, and his appointment of his brother-in-law, Wilfred Jarrot, in his stead. Thursday's appointments were due to come up for confirmation today, but there has been so much informal talk since Roy's friends woke up that it was deemed inexpedient to let things take their natural course. Some of the Republican leaders state that the governor's appointment will be confirmed but it is desirable to delay action until Tuesday, by which time they expect to smooth things over and banish the discord.

In the way of business the records were almost void for the day, being saved by the house judiciary committee, which made the first committee report of the session. This was in favor of San Francisco as the exposition city for the opening of the Panama canal, and the house followed the advice of the committee.

In the senate Senator Gorton of Pawtucket introduced a bill providing for an associate medical examiner in that city. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Senator Greene of Warwick presented the annual report of the barbers' examining board.

Governor Pothier announced the appointment of George H. Holmes of Providence to be a memeber of the Providence Harbor Commission, vice ex-Lieutenant Governor Jackson, resigned.

In the house Mr. Quinn of Woonsocket presented an act returning to the mayor of Woonsocket the control of the affairs of the police department of that city. Referred to the judiciary committee. At present the board of aldermen controls and there is a Republican bill before the judiciary committee providing for a police commission. Mr. Quinn is a Democrat.

G 3:

Mr. Sweet of North Providence presented an amendment to the charter of the Lymansville Company, which seeks to increase its capital from $100,000 to $1,000,000. Referred to the committee on corporations.

Mr. Franklin of Newport, for the committee on judiciary, had the privilege of reporting back the first bill from a committee. This was a resolution endorsing San Francisco as against New Orleans as the exposition city, and it came back approved. The bill was put upon its passage without discussion.

Mr. Colton of Providence introduced a resolution appropriating $3,500 for the use of the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps for its work in this state. Referred to the committee on finance.

After the adjournment the special commission on tax laws, which has been debating for the past two years and of which Mr. Franklin of Newport is a member, went to lunch in a body, after which it is to hold a meeting.

LAST HONORS TO AUTHOR.

Funeral of David Graham Phillips Held in St. George's, New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Last honors were paid today to the memory of David Graham Phillips, the author who died Tuesday as the result of bullet wounds from the pistol of Fitzhugh Coyle Goldsborough, an eccentric young musician, who had a fancied grievance against the writer, and who killed himself after he had shot Phillips last Monday. After the public funeral services in St. George's Episcopal Church this afternoon, the body was placed temporarily in a vault in the Marble cemetery for burial later.

The public funeral was decided upon in deference to the wishes of the many friends of the dead author, who gathered today to pay their tributes to his life and work, cut short in so tragic a manner. Archdeacon George W. Nelson, assisted by Rev. Hugh Birckhead, rector of St. George's Church, were the officiating clergymen. The pall bearers were Robert W. Chambers, Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, JJoseph H. Scars, George Horace Lorimer, John O'Hara Cosgrove, Arthur W. Little, Otto Carmichael and Samuel G. Blythe.

Floral tributes in great numbers were sent today to the church by relatives and friends, and admirers of the author and man.

SLIGHT DECREASE FROM 1910.

Brown's Enrolment Shows 931, With an Increase in Woman's College.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 27.—The number of students at Brown University this year is 931, as shown by the catalogue issued today. This is a slight decrease from last year's enrolment of 967, although it shows an increase of 15 in the woman's college, which has a membership of 193 this year. The catalogue is of unusual interest this year because of the changes which it announces in the entrance requirements, and of the division of the college year into two terms.

LEGALITY OF THE BOYCOTT FIRST.

Now the Burning Issue is Contempt of Court.

Famous Bucks Stove Litigation Before the Supreme Bench.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—One of the most spectacular legal battles ever raged between capital and organized labor reached its final stages today, when the Supreme Court of the United States took up for oral argument the famous litigation by the Bucks Stove & Range Company of St. Louis, Mo., against the American Federation of Labor.

The contending forces started their fight to determine the legality of the "boycott." That was in the supreme court of the District of Columbia. Today, when the contest was renewed before the Supreme Court of the United States, the main issue had been crowded out of the limelight by an incidental one. Now the burning issue is whether the principal officials of the American Federation of Labor are to go to jail on charges of contempt of court. Because they failed to obey the injunction issued by the District supreme court in the original case, Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, is under sentence to serve 12 months in jail; John Mitchell, vice president of the Federation, to serve nine months; and Frank Morrison its secretary to serve six months.

Fighting for the American Federation of Labor and its officials are Alton B. Parker, former Democratic Presidential candidate; Jackson H. Ralston, Frederick L. Siddons, William E. Richardson and John T. Walker. Opposed to them as the representatives of the Bucks Stove & Range Company are Daniel Davenport and J. J. Darlington.

The Bucks Stove & Range Company was selling stoves and ranges throughout the United States at the time the suit began, and was doing a business of $1,250,000 a year. It complained that the American Federation of Labor and its members were conspiring to ruin its business by means of a boycott. The court was asked to grant an injunction against a continuation of the efforts, and particularly to restrain the American Federation of Labor from printing in its official organ, the American Federationist, the name of the company as being on the "We don't patronize list." The opposition of the Federation was alleged to be due to a strike of metal polishers in the shops of the company.

The supreme court of the District of Columbia issued the injunction. The court of appeals of the District modified the decree in several ways, the principal modification being based on the holding that the injunction against the education of the company's name on the "We don't patronize list" should be effective only when the publication was "in furtherance of such a boycott." In so doing, it is contended that the lower court made a distinction between a boycott of the company by the members of organized labor and a boycott of the members against the company's customers who refused to stop dealing with the company. It is urged that only the second kind of boycott was held illegal.

Both sides appealed from this decision. The manufacturing company believed that it did not go far enough, and the defendants took the position that it went too far.

The attorneys for the American Federation of Labor contend that each one of the defendants had a right to refuse to patronize those who dealt with the stove and range company, and therefore they could combine in refusing. It is said that what was lawful for one was lawful when done in combination. This position is attacked as being opposed to the liberty to dispose of one's goods and as being contrary to the decisions of all the states of the Union. The lower court was divided on the point.

For the American Federation of Labor it is argued that to prohibit the publication of the "We don't patronize list" would be an interference with constitutional rights and the freedom of the press. On the other hand, it is contended that even a constitutional right may be so used as to be made a part of a conspiracy prohibited by law. Still further, it is argued that business is not property, or a property right, but rather a mere abstraction incapable of judicial protection. This proposition is opposed, also.

Before the injunction of the original court had been passed upon by the higher court, the Bucks Stove & Range Company complained that President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison had violated its provisions by commenting publicly on the effect of the injunction. They were brought into court and held to be in contempt. Now it is argued in their behalf that the lower court had not issued a valid injunction and that they could not be punished, therefore, for disobeying it that it was not a proper injunction is shown, it is argued, by the fact that the higher court modified it.

FIERCE BATTLE AT FALL OF CEIBA.

Governor of Honduran Town Killed in the Attack.

Americans Credited With Valiant Work During the Fighting.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27.—Wireless despatches received here early today give an account of the fall of Ceiba, Honduras, which was captured by the Bonilla revolutionists Wednesday. The battle was fierce while it lasted, the casualties including 20 dead and 70 wounded. The insurrectos lost 13 in dead and about 50 in wounded, while the government losses were eight dead and about 20 wounded. The dead include General Francisco Guerrero, governor of Ceiba, and commander of the defending garrison, and one American, Louis Beir of New Orleans. American bluejackets, assisted by British seamen, played an important part during the battle in preserving the neutrality zone and their work in this connection probably saved the lives of several nun-combatants.

The commander of the government troops was prevented from placing machine guns on the neutral grounds at the point of bayonets in the hands of the sailors.

General Christmas, who had carefully planned the battle, was ably assisted by two Americans, Guy Maloney of New Orleans, and Joe Reed of Charlestown, Mass. Christmas and his two American aides are credited with valiant work during the fighting, which lasted for three hours. The government forces were well disciplined and fought to the last, the fighting dwindling down, however, after having been continued by the retreating government forces from the last of the hastily constructed trenches and house tops.

General Manuel Bonilla, head of the revolutionary movement, has not left the vicinity of Truxillo, the first seaport to fall into his hands.

The government forces finally sought refuge in the neutral zone and, after the battle they were turned over to the revolutionary leaders. General Diaz was among the prisoners taken.

General Guerrero, while turning from one street to another in which the firing was going on with vigor, was shot through the back but kept at the head of his command until he was overcome by loss of blood and fell from his horse.

About 115 Men Massacred in Insurrecto Trap Near Ojinaga.

SAN JOSE, Mexico, Jan. 27, via Marfa, Texas, Jan. 27.—Details of the massacre of federal troops under Colonel Dorante, received here today, show that he lost 115 men when his soldiers were led into an insurrecto trap near Ojinaga. The revolutionary loss was two.

"WE WANT WORK!"

Cry of Crowd of Unemployed Who Attempt Demonstration in Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—A large crowd of the unemployed attempted a hostile demonstration in the vicinity of the palace today, at a time when Emperor William was transmitting the password to the castle watch. The manifestants were driven away by the police and marched through the central district of the city hurling insulting epithets at the officers and shouting "We want work! work!"

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

Trade Agreement Reduces Duty on 91 Per Cent of Imports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—President Taft placed before Congress late today the reciprocity trade agreement with Canada, under which considerable reductions in duty are granted on 91 per cent of the Canadian goods imported into the United States, and in a special message strongly urged prompt ratification of the pact.

The free list on food stuffs coming from Canada is greatly enlarged, an animating purpose of Secretary Knox in negotiating the pact appearing to have been to obtain a reduction of the "high cost of living."

In return the Secretary gained a notable abatement of duties on many American products consumed in Canada. Prominent among these is bituminous coal, which is now exported to Canada to the value of several million dollars annually. There is also a much better opening for American farm machinery and implements, which will be appreciated by the many American farmers who have gone into the Canadian Northwest.

The agreement was placed before the Canadian Parliament at Ottawa at the same hour it was sent to Congress by President Taft.

The executive said in his message that he did not wish to hold out the prospect that the unrestricted exchange of food products will greatly and at once reduce their cost to the people of this country. "Excluding the element of transportation," he declared, "the price of staple food products, especially of cereals, is much the same the world over, and the recent increase in prices has been the result of a world-wide cause. But a source of supply as near as Canada would certainly help to prevent speculative fluctuations, would steady local price movements and would postpone the effect of a further world increase in the leading commodities entering into the cost of living, if that is inevitable."

President Taft holds that a commercial agreement with Canada, "by which we shall have direct access to her great supply of natural products without an obstructing or prohibitory tariff, is not a violation of the protective principle, as that has been authoratively announced by those who uphold it, because that principle does not call for a tariff between this country and one whose conditions as to production, population and wages are so like ours, and when our common boundary line of 3,000 miles in itself must make a radical distinction between our commercial treatment of Canada and of any other any country."

"The intention of the commissioners to remove all duties on print paper and wood pulp was effected so far as the Dominion government could do it outside the limitations existing in the laws of the Canadian provincial governments imposing export duties on wood cut on crown lands in Canada, but it would apepar that the American duty will lie only upon the comparatively small proportion of Canadian pulp or wood cut on such crown lands.

The agreement, to become effective, must be put in the shape of law amendatory of the existing tariff acts in the United States and in Canada, and it will require sharp work to accomplish this so far as Congress is concerned, in the brief period of the present session yet remaining.

"The negotiation of the agreement has required less than 10 months from the taking of the preliminary steps. Usually such arrangements are in the form of a treaty, but in the present instance a different course was pursued, with the result that considerable time will be saved in the consummation of the agreement, which can be made effective by a simple majority vote in the two Legislatures.

"In the case of a treaty it would be necessary, in the United States at least, to have the approval of a full two-thirds of the Senate, but now the way is clear for the ways and means committee of the House and the finance committee of the Senate to proceed as it would with any tariff bill.

SCHENK JURY DISAGREES, 11-1.

Salesman Stands Out 24 Hours for Conviction and Prevents Verdict.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 26.—The disagreement tonight of the jury in the case of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, charged with poisoning her husband, after more than 24 hours of deliberation, was followed by a rumor that charges of bribery and attempted bribery had been made by members of the jury after their discharge. Several of the jurors subsequently denied vigorously this report.

Mrs. Schenk was remanded to jail after the mistrial. The amount of bond required to procure her liberty pending a second trial has not been determined upon.

Late today the jury announced that it was hopelessly divided over the mass of technical and sensational testimony in the case. Judge L. S. Jordan importuned the panel to make further efforts, but at 5:04 p. m. discharged the jurors and the long-drawn-out trial resulted in a failure to arrive at a verdict.

The final vote taken by the jury after its long session stood 11 for acquittal and one for conviction. On the first ballot, taken within five minutes after the jury retired at 3:56 Wednesday evening, eight voted for acquittal, three for conviction and one refused to vote. On the second ballot there were nine votes for acquittal and three for conviction. From this status the number for acquittal was gradually worked up to 11. One of the jurors, it is reported, came over at the night session Wednesday, while another changed his opinion today.

The juror who prevented a verdict was Isaac Heyman, salesman for a local provision company. From the outset he held that the accused was guilty of the crime with which she was charged and it was generally recognized by the others that there was absolutely no chance of changing his belief.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS WIN.

California Senate Stands 33 to 5 for Constitutional Amendment.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 26.—The state senate by a vote of 33 to 5, adopted today Senator Bell's constitutional amendment conferring equal suffrage upon women.

CURTISS FLIES LIKE A GULL.

Arises from Water in Aeroplane and Returns to Starting Place.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 26.—For the first time in the history of aviation an aeroplane rose from the surface of the water today, sailed about and returned to the starting point, where it landed on the water as easily as a gull. The feat was achieved by Glenn H. Curtiss in his specially equipped aeroplane on San Diego bay. The machine covered a distance of about two miles and the flight was made after almost two weeks of experimenting to devise special appliances to float the machine and allow it to attain sufficient speed on the surface of the water before lifting. Both the army and navy were represented at these experiments.

PORTSMOUTH.

Birthday Presentations to Mrs. Peleg A. Coggeshall and Mrs. Leander Boyd.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The Ladies' Aid of the Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. Kate Bailey, West Main road, Middletown, Thursday, for an all-day session. It having been quietly intimated that especially interesting exercises were to take place, the attendance was unusually large, 25 being served with dinner, which included salmon salad, beans, brown bread, rolls, cake, pie, tea and coffee.

At 2 o'clock the company were called into the large living room and Mrs. Warren R. Sherman and Mrs. Charles Grinnell sang "Building, Ever Building." Earlier in the day showers of postal cards for Mrs. Peleg A. Coggeshall and Mrs. Leander Boyd, in honor of the eighty-second birthday of Mrs. Coggeshall and the eightieth of Mrs. Boyd, had prepared them for still further surprises, Rev. David C. Loucks, pastor of the Christian Church, of which Mrs. Coggeshall has been a member 50 years and Mrs. Boyd for a considerable number, made a pleasant address, congratulating both on having reached so advanced a mile stone in such health and happiness. Mrs. Clara E. Dennis, who had been chosen to make the presentation speech followed, saying true and good things of the guests of honor which must have warmed their hearts to hear. They were then presented with two large and handsome baskets filled with a variety of choice fruit, and large bouquets of pink and white carnations, for the gift of which they manifested their appreciation. Mrs. John Ireys of Newport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coggeshall, and Mrs. Anna Coggeshall of Newport were guests on the occasion. After singing "Blest be the tie that binds", the celebration was brought to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. White were invited to the home of Mr. White's son, Mr. Frank White, a few evenings ago, to find on their arrival a large and handsome frosted birthday cake, with the figures 1838 and 1886 upon it, for the birthdays of Mr. and Mrs. White, which although they occur on the same date are many years apart.

The Rhode Island Monthly Meeting at the Friends' Meeting House, Newport, Thursday, had a good attendance from Portsmouth. The speakers were Rev. James M. Estes, J. S. Kimber and Mrs. J. S. Kimber.

Miss May Sisson of New Bedford was guest of Miss Edna C. Almy during the recent entertainment at Oakland hall.

The Portsmouth King's Daughters, which is now in the twenty-first year of its organization, met with Mrs. Letitia Lawton Thursday afternoon, with a good attendance. The annual election of officers resulted in the choice of the former ones—President, Mrs. John L. Simmons; vice president Mrs. D. Frank Hall; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. H. Frank Anthony.

Mrs. Benjamin C. Sherman, Mrs. Arthur A. Sherman and Mrs. Josephine Chase Lord were guests on the birthday of Mrs. William K. Boyd.

Mrs. Oliver G. Hicks has returned from Hartford, where she has been helping to care for her daughter, Mrs. George Hollister, who is recovering slowly from a long and serious attack of diphtheria and can now move about the house a little.

Three hundred and fifty tickets were received at the door, Wednesday evening at the Oakland entertainment and this did not include a large number present who assisted in various capacities which must have swelled the number to about 400.

The chowder supper given Wednesday evening by workers of Holy Trinity Church proved successful. Mrs. Cornelius S. Greene, Miss Elizabeth Greene, Mr. William Taylor of this town and Miss Susie Littlefield were active helpers and there were also a number of guests from this town and Stone Bridge.

Mrs. John Wadsworth and her daughter, Miss Laura Wadsworth, have been guests of Miss Susie Littlefield.

Miss Fannie T. Clarke, who has been ill, is better.

Miss Amma Chase has gone to Newport to spend the winter with Mrs. Saunders.

MISS GOULD'S MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Lord Decies and his fiancee, Miss Vivien Gould, went to the city hall in New York Thursday and obtained legal consent to be married February 7. Miss Gould gave her name as Helen Vivien, and said she was 18 years old May 2 last. Her residence was given as 857 Fifth avenue; birthplace, New York; occupation, none; name of father, George J. Gould; name of mother, Edith Kingdon.

The English Baron gave his name as John de la Poer Beresford, Lord Decies; residence, Sefton Park, England; age, 41 years; birthplace, Dublin, Ireland; name of mother, Catherine Dent; name of father, William Marcus, Lord Decies. The certificate further states that this will be the first marriage for each.

If President Taft really adheres to his announced intention of vetoing the Sulloway pension bill when it gets to him he will be in line for the same popularity and unpopularity which President Cleveland enjoyed.—[Boston Transcript.

RHODE ISLAND CLAMS MENACED.

Commission on Shell Fisheries Urges Legislation for Protection.

Need of Conservation Taken up in Detail in Report to the General Assembly.

The Rhode Island clam will soon be a mere memory, says the Commission on Shell Fisheries, unless some means are taken to prevent the further depletion of the beds. The commission in its annual report to the General Assembly says: "The clams used in Rhode Island during the past year were obtained from Boston, having been grown in Maine and Massachusetts." The doom of the scallop in this state is also foretold unless prompt measures are taken to protect the beds and cultivate the crop.

Legislation to conserve the Rhode Island clam is urged by the commission and in this an amendment to the provision regulating the use of quahaugs or little necks and to prohibit the use of soft shell clams of less than two inches in length is advised. It is believed by the commission that such legislation will prevent the death of the Rhode Island clam industry. The report of the Shellfish Commission, which is a very long document, advises the enactment of measures to restrict the dredging of small oysters, to license persons to fish on public oyster grounds, and the appropriation by the General Assembly of $10,000 to continue the crusade against the pollution of the waters of Narragansett bay and its tributaries.

The financial statement for the year shows receipts of $117,555.72; expenditures, including the salaries of the commissioners, $11,862.77; balance, $105,692.95. The estimated receipts for the year 1911 are placed at $130,768.32.

Increased power is asked by the commission in the supervision of oyster beds, to confer upon the board the power to remove stakes or buoys which do not comply with the regulations as drawn up by the commission, and to collect the cost of such removal from the owner. A patrol system for the purpose of maintaining a constant oversight of the waters of the state in order that no stake or buoy shall be permitted to remain in waters which are in a condition to become a menace to small boats is also urged. The protection of the soft shelled clam is given a large amount of space in the report, the commission holding: "Chapter 205 of the General Laws, which applies to the protection of quahaugs, we believe should be amended so as to protect the soft shelled clams. We are informed that small clams, or such as should be used for seed, are being gathered and marketed, which is injurious to the proper growth and production of this species of shellfish." With regard to public oyster beds the commission has the following to say:

"Prior to 1901 the following law was upon our statute book: 'Every person taking oysters from any bed in the free and common oyster fisheries shall, at the time of taking the same, cull out and restore to said bed all small oysters, shells and other substances valuable to said bed, retaining only such oysters as are fit for market and present use and the small oysters adhering to the same.

"We believe that some restriction, perhaps similar to this law, would be beneficial to the public oyster beds of the state, as it would necessitate the returning to the waters of such oysters as were not marketable or suitable to be used. At the present time the fishermen take all oysters, irrespective of size, and sell them to the dealers, who cull them and return to private beds all small oysters. If there was some provision whereby these small oysters might be allowed to remain upon the public fishing grounds and to have deposited upon these grounds shells or other material which is suitable for the catching of set we see no reason why the amount of shellfish upon the public fishing grounds of the state might not be greatly increased. If it was thought advisable to recompense the state for this small outlay, there might be a licenese fee charged, and we believe it is proper that there should be a license issued to all persons who desire to fish upon public fishing grounds. We recommend that there be an amendment to the present law requiring that no person shall be allowed to fish upon public fishing grounds of the state without having a suitable license granted by the authority of the state."

A recommendation that some of the now exempted territory be allowed to be rented for oyster cultivation is included in the report, the commission taking the ground that "there is quite a percentage of territory which is now exempted by law, particularly as compared with the percentage of territory that is now leased. The proportion is greater than what seems to the commissioners to be advisable, and for this reason they make the above recommendation."

The outlook for the oyster industry with proper regulations is declared by the commissioners to be bright, the board making the following statement in regard to that industry: "There is a continuance of the prosperity of this industry, although many things have arisen which might seem to be injurious to the same, particularly the pollution of the tide waters of the state. We are informed that this industry is one of the leading ones of the state, and we see no reason why the future prosperity should not be even greater than now. For naturally Narragansett bay is one of the finest bodies of water in the country in which to grow oysters. This may be recognized from the fact that hundreds of thousands of bushels of seed oysters are brought here from other states and allowed to grow and fatten in Rhode Island waters.

"This industry has continued to grow from the time the first land was leased more than half a century ago. From this small beginning of the leasing of oyster ground there has grown this industry, which now comprises 15,421 acres, with an annual rental to the state of more than $130,000.

"Although this industry has increased and will undoubtedly continue to increase for many years to come, the increase may not be as rapid in the future as it has been in the past, for the reason that a large amount of oyster ground which is now being taken out has been until recently considered unsuitable for the growth or cultivation of oysters, particularly as this ground was what is termed soft or muddy.

"Nearly all of the land leased this year, which is more than 3,000 acres, has had to be prepared by the lessees before the same could be used for the cultivation and production of shellfish. This preparation necessitates considerable expense to the lessee, but nevertheless the ground is being taken up, we believe, quite rapidly, all things considered, and we see no reason why in the future the same should not be continued.

"The money receipts from the leased oyster ground are a benefit to the citizens of the state, for it relieves them of an increase in taxes which would have to be made were it not for the income from this industry. The rents for this year exceed any previous year, the rentals being $117,555.72."

The value of the quahaug as a marketable bivalve is pointed out in the report, the commission stating it as one of the hardiest of bivalves, and able to withstand long exposure to the air, even in the warmest of weather, without any apparent injury, and as being able to live for some weeks outside its natural element. The board says further in regard to the quahaug:

"During the past year the set of quahaugs has been quite extensive and the indications are that this shellfish will be quite plentiful in this state if properly protected and the provisions of chapter 205 are observed by the fishermen. We have enforced this provision quite thoroughly and we have brought suit against a number of parties, securing conviction upon the same, and we believe that the public is obeying this law more carefully than in previous years."

The need of conservation for the Rhode Island clam is taken up by the commission in detail, the report saying: "It is in New England where this shellfish has received particular attention, as much so, in fact, as to nearly deplete the once abundant shores. Rhode Island has been long famous for its clams, but the grounds upon which only a few years ago, were an abundance of this species of shellfish, are now completely depleted. Unless some means are taken to propagate them, the soft-shell clams will be known here only in name unless brought from some other state. The clams used in Rhode Island during the past year were obtained from Boston, having been grown in Maine and Massachusetts.

"Experiments have demonstrated the feasibility of the cultivation of this specie of mollusk which is comparatively an easy matter, as these shellfish grow very rapidly and do not need any attention after having been once sown upon ground which has been properly selected and suitably prepared.

"The ground which is best suited for this culture is one over which there is a free movement of water, as the quantity of nourishment will depend much upon the amount of water which passes over the prepared beds, for this liquid carries in suspension the food necessary for the life and proper growth of all species of shellfish.

"According to the experiments of Dr. Mead, which are fully substantiated by other investigators, this shellfish will increase as rapidly as 1,800 per cent in about a year. That is the maximum increase in their experiments; the minimum being 700 per cent. The average would be about 1,200 per cent.

"The process necessary for the cultivation of clams is comparatively simple. The ground should be loosened by some means, perhaps a wheel harrow would be suitable for this purpose, after which the seed clam, which should be about one inch long in order to secure the greatest growth in the shortest time, may be sown the same as grain is sown in the fields. When the tide covers the clams, they very quickly bury themselves in the sand, after which the clam culturist has only to allow the clam to grow for about a year and gather his harvest. Apparently clam culture should be a very profitable industry.

"We very earnestly recommend that there be some legislation enacted which will enable this species of shellfish to be conserved. We believe that there should be an amendment to Chapter 205, which regulates the use of quahaugs, or little necks, so-called, to 1½ inches, that will include the clam, and we think the size should not be less than two inches from end to end, or the longest diameter. Such a provision would enable this shellfish to propagate or spawn at least once during its life, which ought to have a tendency to increase the species."

During the year 1910 the commissioners leased 300.3 acres of new ground at $10 per acre, 3072.2 acres at $5 per acre, making a total of 3372.4 acres. The annual rentals of this ground amount to $18,383. This land is located in the lower part of the bay and in quite deep water. During the year 1910 there was cancelled 158.1 acres that rented for $10 per acre and 1004 acres that rented for $5 an acre, making a total of 1162.1 acres, the rental amounting to $6,801. Deducting the amount of land cancelled from the amount of land leased leaves a net increase of 2,210.3 acres, with a corresponding net increase of $11,762.

January 1, 1911, there was recorded in the books of Commissioners of Shell Fisheries oyster ground leased by the state as follows: 5,744.1 acres at $10 per acre and 13,376.9 acres at $5 per acre, making a total of 19,031 acres, the annual rental of which amounts to $22,825.50.

PERSONALS.

....To Franklin Ferris Russell of New York University has been awarded the New York Rhodes scholarship for 1911 by the committee named for that purpose. He lives in New York and was second choice for the honor last year.

....Ewing Watterson, son of Colonel Henry Watterson of Louisville, was probably insane at the time he shot Michael J. Martin, a saloon keeper, at Saugerties, Ulster County, N. Y., last July, and probably still is insane, according to testimony given before a commission appointed by County Judge Cantine at Kingston, N. Y.

....A gift of $50,000 to Cornell University by Mrs. Florence O. H. Lang of Montclair, N. J., is announced by President Schurman. The money is to be used for a new building to house the machinery workshop of the Sibley College of Mechanical Engineering. It is given in memory of her father, Jasper R. Rand; an uncle, Addison C. Rand, and a brother, Jasper R. Rand, who attended Sibley College at Cornell, in the class of 1897.

....J. P. Morgan, who has sailed for the Mediterranean, is off on what he calls his longest vacation. He will be away eight or nine months. According to his son, J. P. Morgan, Jr., he has several itineraries planned, but up to the day of sailing had not decided upon following any particular one. He will leave the Celtic February 8 at Naples, where he will board his steam yacht, the Corsair, for Alexandria. It is said that he will probably make a trip up the Nile.

....Theodore Roosevelt's next tour will begin March 8, and will take in the South Atlantic and Gulf states, the new Southwest, the Pacific coast, Idaho and Montana, and thence direct home. After leaving San Francisco, Colonel Roosevelt will probably visit friends in Nevada for an indeterminate period, after which he will visit Portland, Seattle and Spokane. On the conclusion of his visit he will probably go to some place in northern Idaho, not named, thence to Sand Point, Mont., and thence straight home.

TO A YOUNG LADY ON HER BIRTHDAY.

[Bliss Carmen, in Hampton's Magazine.]

The marching years go by,
And brush your garment's hem.
The bandits by and by
Will bid you go with them.

Trust not that caravan!
Old vagabonds are they;
They'll rob you if they can
And make believe it's play.

Make the old robbers give
Of all the spoils they bear,
Their truth, to help you live,
Their joy, to keep you fair.

Ask not for gauds nor gold,
Nor fame that falsely rings;
The foolish world grows old
Caring for all these things.

Make all your sweet demands
For happiness alone,
And the years will fill your hands
With treasures rarely known.

FANCIES.

"What is a white lie, Pop?"

"Most of the milk we buy, my son."—[Lippincott's.

"Yes; they were married in haste."

"And repented at leisure?"

"No; almost immediately."

Mr. Shallowpate—Friday, don't you know, is my unlucky day.

Miss Cutting Hintz—Were you born on that day?

Hubby—What's that you just put under your pillow, Helen?

Wifey—A piece of Mrs. Reno's divorce cake. I'm going to dream on it.

"I say, old chap, where did you get the idea for that sketch?"

"Why, out of my head of course."

"Well it's a lucky thing for your head that you got it out."

Willie—May I go and play now, ma?

Mother—What, with those holes in your trousers?

Willie—No, with the boy next door.—[Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Crawford—You can have all the bread and butter you want, but no more cake.

Willie—Say, Ma, how is it I can never have a second helping of any of the things I like?—[Lippincott's.

"Do you believe in using words of one syllable?" asked the student of politics.

"Certainly not," replied Senator Sorghum. "Every real gentleman says 'perquisites' instead of 'graft.'"—[Washington Star.

"I hear you are married, Chloe?"

"Yes'm; I's married."

"And are you happily married, Chloe?"

"Oh, yes'm; I's happily married. Sam gets me lots of washin'!"—[Yonkers Statesman.

"I won' why Mrs. Flimgill regards her husband as stupid. He has been very successful in business."

"Perhaps," replied Mr. Meekton, "he's like so many of the rest of us who can't possibly learn to keep the score of a bridge game."—[Washington Star.

Guest (to hostess at private theatricals)—Madam, you played your part splendidly. It fits you to perfection.

Hostess—I'm afraid not. A young and pretty woman is needed for that part.

Guest—Oh, but madam, you have positively proved the contrary.—[Boston Transcript.

ANTI-GRAFT LEGISLATION.

There has already been presented to the General Assembly during its brief session enough legislation of a useful and important nature to make a reputation for that body if it should pass these bills. One of the latest to be introduced is designed to prevent corrupt interest in contracts and prohibit corporations from paying money for political purposes. This is a piece of legislation which has long been recognized by thoughtful men of this state who are interested in clean elections and pure politics as exceedingly desirable and there has been some effort in other years to secure the passage of such a law, but without success. That the present Assembly will be more favorably disposed toward a measure of this kind is unfortunately not probable, but that body could do few things which would reflect more credit upon it than the adoption of this bill. It would have the effect of removing the pernicious influence of money from politics by putting a ban upon contributions by rich corporations for political purposes and making it impossible for office holders to have a corrupt interest in the contracts which they award for work for state, city or town.

These are two of the most common methods of corruption and graft in politics and administration. Contributions by big corporations of large sums to be used for political purposes have been the cause of much evil for many years and efforts have been repeatedly made in many places to eliminate this influence from politics, but the custom has become so strongly entrenched and the money is so helpful in carrying out the party plans at elections and during campaigns that it is almost impossible to secure the passage of a law to stop the practice. Legislation, however, has been adopted in some sections of the country which has put an end to these contributions within a limited area at least and the result has been gratifying. In this state there is no such law, but there is much evidence that the removal of that influence from politics would be wholesome.

Personal participation in the proceeds of contracts with state, city or town is one of the most common methods of securing graft in this country and an evil which has become so almost universal that few office holders seem to possess so high a sense of honor as to be unwilling to accept contracts of that sort or to share in the benefits which may be offered them from such a source. The extent to which the practice is carried and the bad influence which it has on office holders and the attitude of the people toward office holding is so marked, however, that there is a widespread realization of the need of attention to the matter and in some parts of the country considerable progress has been made against the evil. That such a law is needed here in Rhode Island, and in practically every city and town in the state, is no evidence that this state is more corrupt in this respect than others, for this sort of graft can be found almost everywhere and is by many considered quite legitimate. A state law forbidding participation by office holders in the proceeds of contracts with the state or the city or town which the office holder is serving would therefore prove salutary.

If the present General Assembly would settle down to business and give serious attention to the measures which have already been presented to it, with the honest intention to legislate for the best interests of the state, it would have no need of further propositions for new laws to make a reputation which no predecessor has ever won. There are bills in the hands of the committees which the state needs, and enough of them to occupy the attention of the members for some time, and the benefit which would be done the state by their passage is beyond computation. Such a session of the legislature would be unique, but it would be a welcome innovation to the people as a body, who would be the direct beneficiaries of the work done under such conditions.

THE PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN LEAGUE.

It is too early to say whether a new party has been organized or the Progressive Republican League is merely a party within the Republican party. It happens that there are some prominent Democrats in it, and it invites all Democrats to come in. Its purpose of course is to influence the course of the Republican party, and the question is what it will do if it should fail to control the party. Roosevelt is said to be keeping out of it, lest it should look too much like an organized third-term movement. It may be that that is what it is, and that next year this league will do all in its power to make the party renominate Roosevelt.

The pronunciamento put forth by the new organization says the interests of the people have been sacrificed to those of the great corporations. That is what the Democrats tell us with somewhat tiresome iteration, and there is some truth in it. There have long been pretty intimate relations between the great moneyed corporations and the leaders of the Republican party, but the people have been voting for the Republican candidates steadily for many years, although the Democrats have tried hard enough to convince them that they were being ground into the dust by the corporations and the money power and other ogres.

The people do not seem to have been impressed by this talk sufficiently to vote the Democratic ticket until last November, and the striking Democratic victories then were due more to Republicans not voting than to Democratic gains. Of course it is significant if many thousands of Republicans in several states refuse to vote for their candidates, but it is not quite significant of a new party formation. The Republicans who remained at home last November because they did not like the candidates of their party, or had some other grievance of a local nature, may be early at the polls in November, 1912, voting for the regular Republican ticket. There is a good deal of discontent among Republicans but it is not all of one sort, and there is room to doubt whether any formidable fraction of the party in the nation feels as much oppressed and ground down as Senator Bourne and his associates in the new league think they ought to feel.

THE CRAZE FOR WORLD'S FAIRS.

New York has recently been giving careful thought to the question of a world's fair, and has decided that it did not wish it. A few enthusiasts started the agitation, or tried to raise an agitation, but only succeeded in having a committee created which asked people what they thought of it. Nearly all declared that New York is too crowded already and that there is no need of advertising the city and no money in world's expositions.

Of course smaller cities feel differently about it, and yet it has been so difficult to secure the money to pay the bills of fairs, and there has so often been a business depression in the city following the fair, that we were hardly prepared to see a hot fight between two cities of the second class for the privilege of losing money on one. New Orleans and San Francisco are each terribly anxious for the honor of holding a world's fair in 1915 to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal. Both cities are old enough and big enough to know better and New Orleans has had experience.

In 1885 New Orleans had a Cotton Fair. It was a good show, but the population within 24 hours' railroad travel of New Orleans is not great. Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama were sparsely settled; they are far from densely peopled now. The receipts came nowhere near meeting the expenses. The state and the city put up a good deal of money, but not enough. Finally, there was an unpleasant scandal involving the state treasurer. At the instigation of prominent business men who undertook to "see him through" state funds were used in meeting the expenses of the fair.

The South has a larger population now than it had 26 years ago, but it has not yet enough around New Orleans to support one end of a world's fair. San Francisco is so crazy for a fair that it has decided to have one although Congress should give the national prestige and patronage to the one at New Orleans.

VENTILATING STREET CARS.

A committee of citizens is investigating the running of the Boston street cars, especially in regard to putting on more cars in rush hours and the ventilation. It finds that it is not physically possible for the company to run more cars and that it is also impossible to ventilate the cars properly, because some passengers demand that the windows be closed and others that they be kept open. About the only thing that can be done is to educate the traveling public to the fact that the breathing of impure air is the cause of many colds. All a street car conductor can do in the matter of ventilation is to open the ventilators when asked to do so, and close them if asked, recognizing that people who desire and must have fresh air have rights as well as those who are "sure they are catching cold" if a particle of air from outside strikes them.

Dr. J. Paul Goode, professor of geography at the University of Chicago, is optimistic about the future of that Illinois city. He expects it, before 100 years more have passed, to be a place of 10,000,000 people and the transporting, merchandising and manufacturing centre of a population of from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000 in the Mississippi valley. He also thinks Chicago will become the hub for three great trade routes—to South America and the Panama canal, to Europe, "by way of New York," and to the Orient, by way of the trans-continental railway. Perhaps.

The reciprocal trade agreement proposed by President Taft and Secretary Knox is very much like free trade between the United States and Canada. It is a long step in the right direction, toward a closer relation between the two countries. The purposes of Secretary Knox in the negotiations appear to have been to secure a reduction of the high cost of living by greatly enlarging the free list, so far as it relates to food products coming from Canada, and obtaining a notable abatement of duties on a number of American products consumed in that country.

Gloucester quite naturally does not like the proposed reciprocity agreement, as it puts Canadian fish on the free list and will interfere considerably with that city's principal industry. Flags of all fishing craft in Gloucester harbor are today being flown at half mast, Union down, to signal the sentiment of their owners regarding the treaty. Gloucester evidently does not believe in the sentiment, "Live and let live."

There are still deadlocks in the New York, Iowa, Colorado and Montana legislatures over the election of United States Senator. The New York fight will be broken next week, it is said, by the dropping of Sheehan by Boss Murphy for a compromise candidate.

Apparently there are only a few sites in the public eye for the new police station. The committee ought not to have great difficulty in selecting one from those, to be recommended to the Representative Council.

SALE OF ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPTS.

Edmund Clarence Stedman's original manuscript of his first long poem, "Alice of Weymouth," brought a high price at the sale of his library and autograph collections. The document, which consists of 117 pages small 4to, consigned, was knocked down for $695.

An autograph manuscript and two long holograph letters of Edgar Allan Poe were sold. The manuscript, 65 lines written on a roll and watered, in the manner customary with Poe for publication, is part of a reply to the statement by Henry B. Hirst, a Philadelphia poet, that Poe in his "Waloume," plagiarized Keats' Endymion. Poe denies this, offers proof of its falseness and then accuses Hirst of ungrammatically plagiarizing "Lenore." The prize was secured for $365. A two page 4to a. l. s., Philadelphia, July 12, 1841, in which Poe refers to "The Murders in the Rue Morgue" and "The Maelstrom," went for $315. A three page 4to a. l. s., New York, June, 15, 1846, to Joseph M. Field, in which Poe refers to Hiram Fuller's editorial attack on him in the New York Mirror, brought the highest price of the Poe autographs, $490. This letter (a few words injured by the removal of the seal) passed into the possession of Joseph M. Field's daughter, Kate Field, and on her death became the property of Lillian Whiting, her secretary and biographer, who because she was told by Mrs. Piper, the medium, that Kate Field's spirit so willed it, presented the letter to Mr. Stedman. A daguerreotype portrait of Poe, which, while in the possession of Fields, Osgood & Co., went through the Boston fire, brought $250.

The autograph copy of Mr. Stedman's poem, "Gettysburg," brought $54; first English issue of Victorian Poets, London, 1826, with original draft of the chapter on Robert Browning in Mr. Stedman's autograph, $102.50; original manuscript of the poem Kearny at Seven Pines, $9; original manuscripts of the introductions to the tales and the poems of E. A. Poe, $12; the first edition of Victorian Poets, Boston, 1876, author's own copy with original signed manuscripts of the chapter on Lord Tennyson, $149. Sixteen James Whitcomb Riley items, mostly presentation copies of his work, were sold. A first edition of Armazindy, presentation copy with autograph inscription and seven lines of verse brought $41, and a first edition of Home Folks, with inserted poem by Riley to Mr. Stedman, $30.

THE CHINESE FAMINE.

[Christian Herald.]

Probably the section in which the suffering in China is most severe is the northern part of the province of Anhui, north and east of the Kwai and Kwo rivers. This is a territory of some 7,000 square miles, with a population aggregating 2,500,000. Here the direct cause of the famine was the destruction of fall crops through floods, resulting from the heaviest summer rainfalls on record. Famine conditions have prevailed here for the last four months. Thousands of refugees have left the district, but many, being unsuccessful in seeking support elsewhere, are returning, preferring to die in their native place. It is estimated that 1,000,000 people, chiefly hardworking farmers, will be dependent upon charity for their existence until the spring crops.

The people are left so poor that they are able to plant only one third or one half of the usual amount of wheat sown. It will take several years for this region to recover from its heavy losses. Some aid has been rendered by the government, but it is inadequate to save life and avert suffering to any material extent. The people and the gentry are desiring of foreign aid, and Chinese and foreign relief committees have been organized. The missionaries are working heroically and doing all that lies in their power to relieve the distress.

Dredging of Providence and Woonasquatucket Rivers to Begin Soon.

Kingston Village to Have Electric Lighting—Westerly Man Urged as Commercial Agent

The work of dredging the Providence and Woonasquatucket rivers between Fox point and the Gaspee Street bridge, and such portions of the Moshassuck river as may be deemed necessary, will be begun soon, the commission on abatement of sources of pollution of the rivers and the Providence city council committee on harbor voting to authorize the commencement of the work at a meeting Thursday. The city council in the appropriation bill set aside the sum of $95,000 for the purpose, this dredging being a part of the work of removing the sources of pollution of the Woonasquatucket and Moshassuck rivers. According to the estimate given the city will dredge about 415,000 cubic yards of silt and mud from the river beds in order to go down to a clean, hard bed. The work will be carried up the Woonasquatucket river as far as the bridge at Gaspee street, and will be supplementary to the removal of all debris from the two rivers last summer. The city engineer was directed to prepare the necessary specifications for consideration by the commission and the committee at the earliest possible moment, after which the bids will be advertised so that the work of dredging can be started immediately upon the award. This will probably be within a few days, as the city engineer's department has been for some time in possession of all the data relative to the amounts of and the locations of the material to be dredged.

For the first time in the history of the village of Kingston electric power wires are being strung over the main street, under the old elms which for more than a century have witnessed nothing more revolutionizing than the kerosene street lamp which has done regular service in keeping the streets illuminated each night. Kingston is probably the last community of its size in the state to allow the modern method of lighting to replace the candle and oil lamp. Practically no changes have been made in the methods for a score of years and as the memories of Colonial days have been kept ever to the fore by the old houses, elms and customs, the stringing of wires for the conveyance of electric current seems entirely out of place with the general atmosphere. Electrician Pierce of Wakefield has been trying to obtain the current from the Sea View railway, but as the proposition for putting up a transmission line fell through, a private local plant was decided upon, and a gasoline-electric generator is being installed and poles and wires are being strung.

The appointment of W. H. Bagley of Westerly for the position of commercial agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor of the United States Government, to aid in the upbuilding of trade between the United States and South American countries, is being urged by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers. According to advices from Washington Dr. C. H. J. Woodbury, secretary of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association, has arrived there to take up with Secretary Nagel of the Commerce and Labor Department the desirability of Mr. Bagley's appointment to succeed W. A. Graham Clark, who recently resigned to take a place as textile expert for the tariff board. The cotton manufacturers believe that Mr. Bagley is peculiarly fitted for the position, on account of wide experience in the South American republics, where he was educated, and because of his excellent command of the varied Spanish dialects spoken in the South American centres, as well as Spanish.

Albert Waterman Smith, head of the wool firm of A. W. Smith & Co. and widely known in the textile trade throughout New England and the middle Atlantic states, died unexpectedly at his home in Providence early Thursday evening. The aged merchant was in his usual health during the day and attended to business at his office adjoining his home. Mr. Smith was a native of Johnston, where he was born October 7, 1835. He went to Providence and in 1860 established himself in business as a dealer in wool, becoming well acquainted with wool-producers and woolen manufacturers throughout the New England section of the country and also in New York and states to the westward. About 12 years ago his son, A. Blakeley Smith, was admitted to partnership in the business and the firm name was changed to A. W. Smith & Co. Mr. Smith was considered one of the best judges of wool and the conditions in the trade in this section of the country and was especially prominent in the dealings at wool markets in Boston. He was a member of the Squantum Association, the Hope Club, the Economic Club, the Unitarian Club, of St. John's Lodge No. 1, A. F. and A. M., and the First Congregational Unitarian Church. In 1887 he was a member of the Providence common council from the First Ward. He also served as a member of the finance committee at the time of the purchase of the filtration plant at Field's Point. He was the originator of the pension system for policemen and firemen, although the measure was not passed until after Mr. Smith had concluded his term in the council.

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, who arrived at Jekyl Island several days ago in search of a rest, is so much improved in health that he has decided to prolong his visit, and probably will remain on the island for two or three weeks more. Senator Aldrich has chartered a passenger steamer, the Altnquin, and will use it for pleasure trips. The steamer is large and comfortable and it is announced that the Senator will spend most of his time on the water during his stay at the island.

FAITHFULNESS OF THE DOG.

[Senator Vest's Eulogy on a Dog.]

Gentlemen of the jury; the best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, with whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads. The one absolute, unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he can be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death.

POOR BROWN!

[Lippincott's.]

"Sorry, Brown," said the doctor, after the examination. "You're in a very serious condition, I'm afraid I'll have to operate on you."

"Operate!" gasped Brown. "Why, I haven't any money for operations. I'm only a poor working man."

"You're insured, are you not?"

"Yes, but I don't get that until after I'm dead."

"Oh, that'll be all right," said the doctor consolingly.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Jan. 27, 8 A. M.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Unsettled, occasional rain tonight and Saturday, warmer tonight, moderate, variable winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Rain is falling this morning at most stations in the Lake region and New England, and snow in the Maritime provinces. During the past 24 hours, precipitation, generally light in amount, has fallen over much of the northern and central portions of the country. Clear weather prevails from the northern Rockies to the Great Lakes elsewhere there is much cloudiness. The pressure is still above the normal in South Atlantic states, but has fallen rapidly in the northeast, with the eastward passing of the pressure area, noted yesterday in New Brunswick and the eastward, in advance of the western depression, which now overhangs the Great Lakes. The high pressure area noted in the British northwest has descended to North Dakota. A depression is entering the country on the northern Pacific slope. The temperature has risen and is now generally above the normal in eastern and northeastern portion of the country. It is colder in northern Rocky mountains and the upper Mississippi valley. In New England at 8 a. m. the temperature ranged from 18 at Greenville, Maine to 38 at Block Island, R. I. At 8 a. m. the temperature at New York was 40, Washington 42, Jacksonville 54, St. Louis 58, Chicago 50, Des Moines 34, Kansas City 38, St. Paul 32, Denver 32, San Francisco 50 and Portland, Oregon 42.

BID FOR RHODE ISLAND COAL.

Contractor to be Given Opportunity to Show Whether It Can be Used.

Paving Gravel Matter Calls Up Again the Old Questions in Dispute.

At the Board of Aldermen meeting Thursday evening the old paving gravel matter came up again, and the attitude of the street commissioner in selling to himself and using the city as a means for carrying on business was severely criticised, though there was no special mention of names. New bids were called for. The matter of coal for orders for the overseers of the poor also came up and it was decided to give Mr. Welch, the lowest bidder an opportunity to show that the coal he proposed to use was fit for the purpose. The usability of Rhode Island coal in the houses of the poor was the question and the board did not wish to contract for coal which they cannot use. There were also other things, including the matter of the extension of the street railway tracks at the beach and down town. Mayor Boyle presided and all the members were present.

The regular pay rolls were approved, for the following amounts: Weekly—Streets and highways, $540.74; police, $807.51; fire department, $459.95; city officers, $246.58; firemen in theatres, $36; Monthly—Police, $166.66; Police Relief Association, $507.98; city officers, $1,777.05; fire, R. A. Lochter, $100; A. Kosch, $37.50; N. Freidman, $16.67.

The Newport & Fall River Street Railway Company petitioned for permission to place a new pole on Broadway, between Meeting and Marlborough streets. Chief Kirwin explained that this is for a change in the wire arrangement, made necessary by the construction of the new Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Asociation building. He had notified the company that some changes are necessary. Two poles, are to be re-placed by others, two poles are to come out and a new one is to be placed, so that the net result would be three poles instead of four. After some talk the petition was granted, on the recommendation of the chief.

The chief brought up the matter of forage for the fire department. He had been granted permission to buy forage for January, but the month is about ended. He said that under the contract last year the fire department paid 62 cents a bushel for oats, while other consumers were paying 42, 48 and 52 cents. It had cost something like $250 extra for forage on this account more than it would have cost to buy in the open market. He was authorized to continue buying from the lowest responsible dealer at market rates.

There was some talk about forage being bought in the same way.

An appraisal of damage to two hens, owned by Captain Cotton, total cost to the city $2.40 was ordered paid according to law.

The mayor announced the appointment of Thomas Keenan to be a special policeman, to act as a special in connection with his work, and the appointment was confirmed.

Mr. Shepley desired John A. Hazard made a special and the mayor suggested that certain formalities must be observed before this could be done. The applicant must be examined, and he facetiously asked if Alderman Shepley's candidate was sound. He suggested that Mr. Hazard was at one time a regular officer and perhaps he did not need to be appointed.

The Board of Examiners of Plumbing had a report, with names of plumbers whose licenses were to be renewed—Maurice Butler, James Openshaw Company, L. R. Mumford, R. B. Wilson, Jr., Robert Haire, P. A. Walsh, John H. Fitzgerald, Barker Bros & Co., Joseph Haire estate, John H. Marks, Sullivan Bros., T. J. Murphy, Edward Openshaw, S. L. Goddard, Walter Cremin, M. F. Kelly, L. Hammett & Co., T. B. Connolly.

Next were the bids for various matters, and the gravel question came right to the front. Mr. Kelly said he did not think the proposals submitted to the public were fair. When a contractor delivers gravel at the City wharf it is the property of the city and should be paid for, and the contractor should not be made to wait until the gravel is used and weighed. Neither should he be expected to look after that gravel on city property.

Mr. Mahoney thought it well to continue as in the past. There had been a controversy between Street Commissioner Sullivan and Contractor Dugan over this matter and the board had approved Contractor Dugan's bill over the street commissioner and the bill was paid. It seemed to him that things would run on smoothly.

The city clerk said the form of advertisement used this year had been used for three years, at the request of the street commissioner. It calls for payment for gravel as used and by weight on the city scales. The old way was to pay for the gravel when it was delivered at the City wharf.

Mr. Albro suggested that a plan to measure the gravel might give satisfaction as there is complaint about the city paying for water.

Mayor Boyle agreed that the method of payment suggested by the advertisement is not business-like.

It was finally voted to lay the one bid for paving gravel on the table and to have the city clerk send to the four dealers in gravel, asking for bids without the weighing clause. The mayor suggested there was no need of advertising; a two-cent stamp would do. There was one negative, the ballot standing four to one.

There were other bids, but there was only one for forage for the highway department. This was from H. L. Marsh, as follows: Baled hay $26, straw $20, oats 48 cents, bran $1.50 per 100 pounds. There was some question whether the forage should not be bought in the open market, as is that of the fire department, but finally it was thought that the prices seemed reasonable and the contract was awarded to the H. L. Marsh Company.

Coal for the highway department came next. The bids were for white ash and for Cumberland coal, per ton of 2,000 pounds, and for pine wood, one or two cuts, and were as follows:

Perry Company—$6.85, $5.20, $9.75.

D. J. Sullivan & Co.—$7.02, $5.40, $10.

A. Almy Company—$7.00, $5.38, $10.

Heirs of George Bowen—$7.10, $5.33, $10.

Pinniger & Manchester—$7.10, $5.50, $10.50.

E. S. Peckham—$6.98, $5.54, $10.

The contract was awarded to the Perry Coal Company, the lowest bidder.

The proposals for coal for the City Hall and the orders of the overseers of the poor came next. The City Hall coal was to be white ash egg and that for the overseers white ash stove or chestnut, of 2,240 lbs., with kindlings per box. The bids all lumped the coal for the overseers at one price, and in the above order were:

Perry Coal Company—$7.35, $7.75, 35 cents.

D. J. Sullivan & Co.—$7.30, $7.65, 35 cents.

A. Almy Company—$7.35, $7.75, 35 cents.

Heirs of George Bowen—$7.25, $7.60, 35 cents.

Pinniger & Manchester—$7.35, $7.68, 40 cents.

Welch Coal Company—$6.35, $6.35 35 cents.

J. D. Johnston bid 24 cents per box for kindlings, and the Perry Coal Company and Heirs of George Bowen bid also 25 cents per barrel.

Mayor Boyle said his attention had been called to the bid for kindlings. It was stated that Mr. Johnston proposed to furnish barrels and not boxes, and that the barrels are much smaller than the boxes, so that there is not a fair comparison. His bid was read and said box. It was held that if he received the contract he could be compelled to supply boxes and not barrels. When the other bids were opened it was seen that some had put in a price per barrel 10 cents below the price per box.

The bid of the Welch Coal Company was the lowest. Mr. Shepley, who is also one of the overseers of the poor, said he understood the Welch bid was for Rhode Island coal. The bid was read, and conformed to the advertisement for white ash coal. Mr. Kelly asked if Rhode Island is white ash, but if any one knew there was no response. Mr. Albro said Mr. Welch had told him he proposed to supply Rhode Island coal.

Mr. Shepley spoke of the dirt which Mr. Welch supplied last year and on the subject of Rhode Island coal said he had had some experience. He had 100 pounds sent him. There was $2 worth of kindling in the house, but it was not enough to burn that coal. Perhaps some others would have bettter luck, but before any contract was made there should be a trial. He suggested a trial for, say, four weeks, to see if this coal could be used by the people to whom the city furnishes coal. He did not believe it right to make a contract without such a preliminary trial.

Finally it was decided to lay over the coal contracts until next week and have Mr. Welch before the Board to talk over the matter.

There were but two bids for carting crushed stone, J. F. Sullivan bid 70 cents, 68 cents and 65 cents per ton for the first, second and third districts. J. H. Sullivan bid 70 cents, 63 cents and 65 cents, or five cents less for the middle district. The contract was awarded to J. H. Sullivan.

Mr. Mahoney brought up the matter of the extension of the street car lines to the bridge at Easton's beach and said he thought it would be a good thing for the railroad company and for the city. He thought also that the decision of the Committee of Twenty-Five that this is the duty of the Board of Aldermen, was a good one and that action should be taken by the board. He moved that this matter be referred to a committee. Mayor Boyle suggested that there is another suggested extension of the road, in the Carroll Avenue district, and this was included. There was some talk as to whether the Carroll Avenue extension was to be to the Ocean drive. The matter of street railway extension was referred to Alderman Shepley and Mahoney.

Alderman Shepley had some suggestions. He desired a gas light on Vernon avenue changed from plain to Welsbach, and it was voted to make the change. He also wished a cross walk at Gould street, and the mayor suggested that it would be as well to wait until an appropriation is made for such work. Then he desired the mud removed from Broadway, as he had had his clothes soiled. The mayor sugested that the mud of today might be solid tomorrow and there would be nothing to remove.

The mayor had a book which was sent him by an old lady, who wrote she was watching and praying for the mayor and the board. It was "A Battle of Life," by Henry van Dyke, and she asked that it be kept in the library in the mayor's office and frequently read. Mayor Boyle said the book is a good one and the information that some one is watching and praying for the board is comforting. The book will be placed as desired in the library. The Mayor offered to read selections from it to the board.

At 8:52 the board adjourned.

CARS ACROSS THE BEACH.

Extension of the Line Would Stimulate Travel and Build Up a New Residential Section.

To the Editor of The News:

I respectfully suggest that the Board of Aldermen request the Old Colony Street Railway Company to extend their tracks from the present terminus at Easton's beach to the Middletown line, which means to the bridge. And if this is done I predict that the railroad company will collect enough additional fares the first season to pay for the extension of this track.

Now this improvement would not require the company to put on any extra cars, or any more men to operate this new extension, as the cars that now run to the beach have to stop there from six to eight minutes before they start on their return trip to Franklin street. They could use this spare time in going across the beach and back, and make connections at Franklin street exactly as they do now. The only expense that the company would be obliged to go to would be the construction of this new piece of track and the necessary power required to run the cars across the beach.

There are thousands of people who walk from Bellevue avenue to the beach and back, every year, rather than pay five cents for such a short ride, but if they had an opportunity to take a trolley trip to the east end of the beach they would cheerfully pay five cents for that privilege, as it would make a delightful ride.

If this improvement is made at the beach it would be the means of attracting many thousands more people there during the summer months than at present and would therefore be an additional attraction for strangers to visit Newport. Besides, if the tracks were extended, it would mean the building up of a residential section, at once, at the east end of the beach, where there are several hundred acres of unoccupied and very desirable land. This, when improved, would no doubt create a permanent business for the railroad company, as the people living in that locality could then get to the centre of the city in six or seven minutes.

As to the layout of the tracks: They could cross to the north of the roadway, just west of the drinking fountains, and run about 20 feet north of the road to the bridge, at the Middletown line. Consequently the track would not interfere in the least with the highway traffic.

I also wish to state that it would only be necessary for the company to run the cars across the beach during the summer months, or as much longer as they might decide.

TO CONTINUE THE CONTEST.

Reds and Blues Tied and Y. M. C. A. Workers to be Given Another Week's Time.

The membership contest at the Young Men's Christian Association will not close this evening, as originally intended,but will be continued another week, ending Friday evening, February 3. So much interest has been shown and the members of the two camps, the Reds and the Blues, have become so active in their work that it was decided best to continue the contest. The workers having just begun to be really interested it seemed inadvisable to check the enthusiasm so soon. So an additional week has been given and every opportunity will be accorded the workers to bring in new names

At noon today, when the accounts were made up, it was found that the Reds and the Blues were tied on points, each having 145. The Reds had secured in the past 24 hours 24 and the Blues 26 points. In the Boys' department the Reds had in all 63 and the Blues 41, the former having gained six and the latter five points since Thursday noon. In the Senior department the Blues had gained three points, making the score: Reds 37, Blues 23. Among the business men the Reds had 45 and the Blues 81 points, each side having gained 13. The total paid up membership at noon today was 433, a gain of 15 in 24 hours, the total being divided as folows—Boys 137, men 296.

TWO SOCIALS.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Jeshuatt Israel gave a social Thursday evenin gat Masonic hall which was largely attended. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs Louis Hess, Mrs. A. Kosch, Mrs. J. Kanarick, Mrs. M. Tall, Mrs. A. Friedlander, Mrs. D. Frant, Mrs. J. Billiard and Mrs. B. Wilsker. Mrs. B. Richards was floor manager and Mrs. H. Levy assistant floor manager. Music was furnished by the Howard orchestra.

The Queen's Daughters gave a whist and social in the Father Mathew Society's hall. There were 60 tables for the whist and prizes were awarded to Mrs. James Martin, Mrs. Charles Burns, Miss Nellie McMahon and Mr. John Doe. Following the whist there was dancing, lasting until 1 o'clock, a large number participating.

INDOOR FIELD DAY AT FORT ADAMS.

There was a field day at Fort Adams Thursday. It was a winter field day, with such competitions as could be carried on indoors, and 20 men from each company took part in it. There was work on the horses, and on the bar, push ball games, boxing and wrestling. The most interest centred about the wrestling, for an unknown was sprung on the men. A stocky and not too tall man went into the match and surprised every one by throwing the tall blacksmith, who is "no slouch" when it comes to wrestling.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. W. J. Creaney is spending his vacation in New York.

—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Eddy have returned from New York.

—Barge Laura Keeler is in, with coal for the Almy Company.

—Father Tierney of St. Mary's parish is away on a two weeks' vacation.

—Mr. and Mrs. Randall McCarroll have returned from their wedding trip.

—The fog seems to have the centre of the stage today and the fog whistles are furnishing all the music.

—It seems a trifle early for pussy willows, but some are on exhibition today at the Acker, Merrall & Condit store.

—Steam yacht Susquohanna arrived from up the bay this afternoon and is awaiting the arrival of her owner and guests from Boston, before going south.

—At the Atlantic City Club's masquerade ball in February there will be special prizes for various styles of costumes and the members think it will be the real thing.

—A quantity of old rails have been carted from the local car barn, where the worn-out material has been stored, and has been shipped to the rolling mills for use in new rails.

—Late arrivals at the Perry House include A. E. Sweetsen, Providence; A. J. Steinberger, John Kennedy, New York; J. Irving Davis, Boston; L. L. West, Brockton;; Louis P. Weil, New Haven.

—This soft weather is coming in handy at the Colonial Theatre, for it is giving an opportunity to prepare for the walks on the outside, which are necessary for the exist and for the stage entrance.

—Concrete is running again at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association. The elevator was extended to the fourth floor Thursday and a portion of this floor being ready for the permanent construction, it was begun.

—Deputy Grand Regent George F. O'Shaunessy, who was expected to install the officers of Coronet Council, Royal Arcanum, this evening, will be unable to be present, and his place will be taken by Past Grand Regent Joseph G. Reynolds of Wickford.

—The report that Willie Pascoe had recovered consciousness at the Newport Hospital is not founded on fact, for it is stated that the little fellow is not improved and still lies in a subconscious state. His fall at the Hazard Memorial School caused injuries which it was felt must end fatally or leave permanent results.

—A two-horse coal wagon, driven over the curbing, over a manhole plate and along the sidewalk to the place where the coal was to be discharged, was one of the uses to which a Broadway sidewalk was put this morning. The walk is wide at the particular point, but a long chute would have discharged the coal from the street.

—A special car will leave this afternoon with about 20 employes and friends of the local road, for Brockton, where a car men's ball is to be given tonight. It will be an all-night trip for those who propose to indulge in the festivities, but their going is expected to result in a return courtesy when the car men's ball is given here.

—It was 10:20 this morning when steamer Plymouth tied up at Long wharf. She was due at 2:30 but was delayed in leaving New York harbor by the fog, and then further delayed on the run up, so that when she arrived at 10:20 she had done well. The steamboat train was waiting and pulled out at 10:50 for Boston, and the boat proceeded as soon as she had discharged her freight.

—All the Newport County delegation except Mr. Beeckman attended the Lippitt dinner at Squantum Thursday. Ex-Speaker Burchard was the only member of the delegation who spoke, by request, and he made a stirring address. Colonel Ambrose Kennedy acted as toastmaster. Governor Pothier made the principal speech, addressing himself to the members of the state government and reviewing what had been done and is yet to be done.

COAL TESTS TO BEGIN.

Cruisers West Virginia and Maryland Expected at Santa Barbara.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Jan. 27.—Cruisers West Virginia and Maryland will arrive off here today, according to a wireless message, and immediately begin a series of coal tests to determine the relative fuel values of eastern and western coal. Cruiser Pennsylvania will be used at the same time to carry out experiments to determine the practicability of man-carrying kites for aerial scouting at sea.

CHARLESTOWN DESIGNATED.

Efforts Being Made to Have Two Authorized Revenue Cutters Built.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Efforts are being made to have constructed at a navy yard the two revenue cutters authorized by Congress, which private shipyards refused to bid upon, because of the provision that they be built with eight hour labor. Representative Gardner of Massachusetts asked Assistant Secretary Hilles today to designate the Charlestown navy yard as the place. There is said to be a probability that private bidders may revise their bids to come within the appropriation.

MISS CARLEY'S PUPILS' RECITAL

The younger pupils of Miss Florence G. Carley gave a recital of piano selections at Miss Carley's studio Thursday evening, assisted by Miss Elsa Lake on the violin. The program included duets by Misses Fannie and Lena Lack and Misses Carrie Olney and Emily Barker, solos by Misses Gertrude Champlin, Ella Hicks, Mary Edson, Alice Tripp, Elsie Carlyle, Carrie Tubley, Sarah Groff, Elsie Champlin, Marcella Edson, Rose Littman, Ethel Josephson, Edith Watson, Marian Smith and Irene Coffey, and by Charles Bradley and Charles Callahan; a piano and violin duet by Misses Marion and Elsa Lake, and a selection by Miss Florence Plummer and Miss Carley. A collation was served and a social hour was spent after the recital.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mrs. T. A. H. Tefft, who has been visiting relatives on the island, has returned to her home in Shawmut, Mass.

Captain and Mrs. G. H. Carr will sail from Europe today for their home here.

A party of Boston capitalists were on the island Thursday, to look into the matter of working the coal vein at Conanicut Park.

Mr. Norman Caswell left today on a short visit to friends near New Bedford.

The excavating with the steam shovel for the reservoir at Fort Greble is completed and portions of the gear are being shipped to Boston.

Messrs. Johnston and Langley of Newport have made arrangements for the sinking of an artesian well, to supply their bungalows on the east shore with water.

The past two days of mild and wet weather have again practically cleared the ponds of ice and the prospect of a full crop is spoiled.

DECLARES CHARGE IS A RUSE.

Former Member of Mexican Congress Held for Obtaining Money Falsely.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—On the docket of the district court today appeared the case of Juan Sanchez Azcona, a former member of the Mexican congress, and related to several of Mexico's most prominent diplomatic representatives, who is fighting against extradition sought by the Mexican government, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Azcona, who has been in custody of a United States marshal since December 8, has repeatedly declared that the charge is a ruse on the part of the Mexican government to secure his return to Mexican territory. He admits that he was active in stirring up opposition to President Diaz, at the time of the last election, and says that the newspaper in Mexico City, which he edited, was forced to discontinue publication through government influence. The paper collected subscriptions for the entertainment of the poor, four years ago, and the Mexican government charges that part of the funds were withheld by Azcona.

The accused is a graduate of Heidelberg University and is a son of the late Senor Azcona, Mexican ambassador at different times to Italy, Guatemala, and Argentina. He is a brother-in-law of Senor Joaquin Casasus, special ambassador to the United States from Mexico.

HOWLAND—DIXON.

A Large Gathering Witnesses Marriage in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York.

In St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, Thursday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering Miss Hortense Howland, daughter of Mr. Louis M. Howland, was married to Mr. Courtlandt P. Dixon, 2d, son of Mr. William P. Dixon. The decorations were confined to the chancel and were in palms, ferns and white roses. The ceremony was performed by Bishop David H. Greer, assisted by Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks.

The bride entered the church with her grandfather, Colonel Frederick Newbold Lawrence, who gave her away. She wore a gown of white satin trimmed with old point lace, and a veil of the same lace and carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a diamond necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. She was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Frederic Kernochan and Miss Nathalie Howland; her cousins, the Misses Virginia and Mary Elizabeth Alexandre, and Miss Priscilla Stanton. Mrs. Kernochan wore orchid pink satin veiled with lavender chiffon, and a poke bonnet of orchid pink. She carried a bouquet of lavender primroses. The other attendants were in white satin veiled with white chiffon and trimmed with old point lace. They also wore white poke bonnets trimmed with small pink roses, and they carried bouquets of lavender primroses.

Mr. William H. Dixon, brother of bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Theodore P. Dixon, J. Howland Auchincloss, Frederick F. de Rham, Seymour Johnson, Walter Davis, Jr., and U. Henry Alexandre, Jr. After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's grandfather, 18 West Fifty-third street.

SENATE TO CUT PENSION BILL.

Committee Favors Reducing Appropriation for Old Soldiers.

Congressman Butler, Although a Peace Man, Will Support Plan for Two Battleships.

[Washington Correspondence of The News].

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Those old soldiers whose hopes were raised by the passage of the Sulloway pension bill in the House may be disappointed when the Senate gets through with the measure. The Senate committee is inclined to materially change the bill and reduce it. Instead of providing for pensions which will increase the appropriation by $45,000,000 the Senate committee is considering a bill of about $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 which is said to be more in line with the measure recommended by the Grand Army.

If such a bill is passed by the Senate there will be a strong fight made in the House for the Sulloway bill, for the House members believe that the only fault in that measure was that it did not go far enough. They really wanted a dollar a day pension bill for old soldiers.

Several times during every session of Congress, and especially near the end of each session, Senator Hale utters weekly and often daily warnings about the awful abyss which the Senate is approaching. More especially is he concerned over the probability of an extra session of Congress and uses the words "deplorable," "disastrous," "fearful" and such like to picture the calamity that would follow a called session of Congress to attend to national business for which there is no time in the present session. These warnings by the Maine Senator year after year are amusing to those who have heard them, although every Senator feels it his bounden duty to look solemn and duly impressed with all that is said.

Just who will take Senator Hale's place as the signpost of disaster cannot now be predicted. For a score of years no one has attempted to even become an understudy, and perhaps the Senate will allow the place to disappear with the retirement of the Maine Senator.

Peace is the prospect for many years, according to the view of nearly every man in Congress who has expressed an opinion on the subject. The debates have shown that the efforts to alarm the country have not affected members of Congress who handle the appropriations. During one of the discussions Congressman Butler of Pennsylvania remarked, "There is no more danger of war than snow in August, not a particle." Butler is one of the Quakers in the House and naturally might be a peace man, but he will be found supporting the plan for two battleships when the naval bill is considered.

With only six weeks of Senatorial life ahead of him, Senator Beveridge has much to do. He made a minority report against Lorimer and is anxious for a vote on that case. He was the author of the original tariff commission bill and is particularly anxious that it should become a law. He has been struggling for months for the passage of his bill known as the anti-coupon bill, relating to packages of tobacco, but that measure has been sleeping in the finance committee. He is one of the most earnest champions of the resolution for the selection of Senators by direct vote of the people. The Indiana Senator has urged the Senate to have early action upon each of these important measures, but everybody knows that a determined minority will be able to defeat all of them if filibustering tactics are employed.

In the general scheme of things in the Senate and even in looking forward to all possible contingencies it was never intended by those who direct the destinies of that mighty body that Senator Du Pont of Delaware would become chairman of the committee on military affairs. But nothing is quite so uncertain as politics. Hale leaves the Senate and Warren must retire as chairman of military affairs to become chairman of appropriations. Scott and Bulkeley are defeated, and Du Pont is the next member of the military committee. The Delaware Senator has a splendid war record, is a West Point graduate and a thorough military man in thought and feeling.

He was in the Senate four years before he was even allowed to go on the military committee. In fact, he never was given a good assignment up to that time. It is quite possible that his connection with the Du Pont Powder Company, from which the government buys a large amount of powder, may have had something to do with the failure to reach the place on the committee of which he is to become chairman. Politics is an uncertain game.

Arthur W. Dunn.

The salaries of the circuit judges of the United States are to remain at $7,000 as a result of the decisive action of the House of Representatives, which thrice refused to authorize an increase.

WOULD LIE AWAKE ALL NIGHT WITH ITCHING ECZEMA

"Ever since I can remember I was a terrible sufferer of eczema, and other irritating skin diseases. I would lie awake all night, and my suffering was intolerable. A scaly humor settled on my back, and being but a child, I naturally scratched it. It was a burning, itching sensation, and utterly intolerable. It did not take long before it spread to my shoulders and arms, and I was almost covered with a mass of raw flesh on account of my scratching it. I was in such a condition that my hands were tied. A number of physicians were called, but it seemed beyond their medical power and knowledge to cure me. Having tried numerous treatments without deriving any benefit from them, I had given myself up to the mercy of my dreadful malady, but I thought I would try the Cuticura treatment as a last resort. Words cannot express my gratitude to the one who created 'The Cuticura Miracles,' as I have named them, for now I feel as if I never suffered from even a pimple. My disease was routed by Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I will never be without them, in fact, I can almost dare any skin diseases to attack me so long as I have Cuticura Remedies in the house." STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

WILLIAM E. COREY'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Farrell's Selection by the Steel Corporation Will Satisfy Whole Business World.

[Iron Trade Review.]

In these days of insistent and proper demand for square dealing, William Ellis Corey has been giving the square deal to all with whom he has come in contact. A man of strong personality, he has not hesitated to express his views with vigor, and he has impressed all fair-minded men with his integrity and straightforwardness. Although naturally frank and outspoken, he recognized the importance of unity of action in a great organization, and if, as is commonly reported, he differed radically from some of his associates regarding important matters of policy, that fact was not generally known. He earnestly worked to carry out policies as they had been agreed upon.

The selection of Mr. Farrell to succeed Mr. Corey came as a surprise, and yet it was most natural. Mr. Farrell is a modest, unassuming man, who has accomplished great results in a quiet way—results that had not failed to attract the attention of officers of the Steel Corporation as well as of the foreign leaders in the commerce of the world. Because of his success in extending export business, and because of his high character and adherence to the well known ideas of conciliation and co-operation, of which Judge Gary has been the foremost exponent, Mr. Farrell will fit in the new position admirably. His selection emphasized the determination of the corporation thoroughly to pursue the Gary policies. It is indeed, fortunate that in a time of depression, when there are no positive indications of improvement, there is assurance that the price wars of by-gone years which characterized times of dullness, are not to be inaugurated by the corporation. Hence, the whole business world has reason to be thoroughly satisfied with Mr. Farrell's selection.

Grandmother

May like castor oil, but it probably took a lifetime to acquire a taste for it.

Don't wait till you're old to really enjoy the benefits of castor oil—the ideal laxative. Most other laxatives or purgatives are harmful because they are reactionary. CASTOR-LAX (castor oil with magnesia in pure, white powder form) is so beneficial, so effective and yet so pleasant to take, that it is rapidly becoming the universally preferred laxative.

Any druggist has CASTOR-LAX or will gladly get it for you.

GLOUCESTER TO ENTER PROTEST.

Entrance of Fish Free of Duty Ruinous to Industry.

Vessels Display Colors at Half Mast As Mute Declaration.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Jan. 27.—Every pressure that the citizens of Gloucester can command will be brought to bear against the ratification of the proposed reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States, so long as the agreement provides for the entrance into the United States of fish duty free. Ever since it became known that the matter of reciprocity was being discussed between representatives of the United States and Canada the people of Gloucester, all of whom are dependent, directly or indirectly, in the fisheries industry, have feared that the duty on fish imports might be lowered, but all hoped that it would not be abolished entirely. With the verification from Washington yesterday that the agreement proposed to admit Canadian fish free into the United States, the people of Gloucester became more aroused than over any event since the locally styled "Fortune Bay outrages" of 1877. At that time the inhabitants of Fortune Bay, N. F., mobbed a party of Gloucester herring fishermen and destroyed their property, because the Americans, acting under the terms of the treaty then in force, attempted to secure cargoes of herring without the aid of the Fortune Bay fishermen.

The opinion generally expressed in Gloucester today was that the fisheries industry of both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States would be "smothered," as one person expressed it, by the free admission of Canadian fish into the United States. All kinds of fishing vessels in port today displayed their colors at half mast as a mute protest against the fisheries clause of the proposed agreement.

The fishing interests of the entire country it was declared today will present a united front against the ratification of the agreement, and will make a strenuous fight to convince Congress that the free admission of fish to the United States would be ruinous to the industry. The protestations are encouraged in a measure, it is said, by the fact that in the past their protests have been successful in protecting Gloucester's interests, although all admit that the present situation is the most serious that has yet confronted the fishing industry.

Today telegrams have been pouring in upon local fishing companies, and into the offices of the board of trade from all sections of the country, where fishing is an industry, promising support against the ratification of the free fish clause. A meeting of the board of trade was arranged for later in the day, when it was planned to name a committee to invade Washington next week to record Gloucester's protest in emphatic terms. The committee is expected to act in conjunction with other committees representing the cod, herring, mackerel and salmon fisheries.

OPINIONS OF TORONTO PAPERS.

Wide Divergence As to Recent Canadian-American Agreement.

TORONTO Jan. 27.—Editorials in today's Toronto papers show a wide divergence of opinion as to the Canadian-American reciprocity agreement. The conservative (opposition) journals maintain that if enacted the agreement will be a death blow to a British-Canadian preferential tariff arrangement, while the Liberal (government) organs affirm that the goods which form the great bulk of Great Britain's export trade to Canada are not affected by the new schedules.

The Globe (Liberal) says, "The feature that stands out most prominently in a consideration of the general fiscal policy underlying the reductions is that there are no treaty entanglements. Each nation retains absolute control of its own tariff. The next point of importance is that there is no entanglement in regard to th British preference."

The Mail and Empire (Conservative) says "Mr. Taft's explanatons are of a character to make us pause. When the terms that have been reached and examined the unfavorable impression made by the President is strengthened, for it becomes clear that we are making very considerable concessions in order to induce the United States to remove its duties upon our raw material and thus to secure the advantages of which the President speaks. The bargain President Taft points out is conducive to the interests of the United States, in that it gives that country access to our natural resources and a larger market in the dominion. It is also calculated to commend itself to our neighbors because it makes a British-Canadian preference system impossible."

CANADIAN PAPERS SILENT.

Subject of American Canadian Reciprocity Agreement Untouched.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The afternoon papers are silent on the subject of the American Canadian reciprocity agreement, apparently waiting to hear from the political leaders. The tariff reformers are inclined to look askance at the agreement, as possible harmful to imperial preference, but they do not wish to antagonize the Canadian government by criticism. They would have been better suited if the agreement had been postponed until after the imperial conference in May, from which they anticipate considerable grist for their tariff reform mill.

MUCH UNEASINESS IN PERU.

Cruiser Almirante Grau Leaves for Payta to Re-inforce Guard.

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 27.—Rumors of another encounter between Peruvians and Ecuadoreans on the frontier near Zaruma, Ecuador, were confirmed today. At midnight the Peruvian cruiser Almirante Grau sailed from Callao for Payta, on the northwest coast, carrying 200 infantry, to re-inforce the frontier guard.

Yesterday Senior Aparicio minister from Ecuador, called upon foreign minister Martinez and subsequently the representatives of the mediation powers, the United States, Brazil and Argentinea, were received by President Leguia. The results of these conferences were held secret. There is much uneasiness here.

CHARGES OF TREASON.

Other Attacks Made at Session of the Prohibition National Committee.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Charges of treason to the prohibition cause, counter charges of "machine politics," and an "unholy alliance," were made yesterday at the second day's session of the prohibition national committee. The storm broke with the presenting of a resolution calling upon Vice Chairman A. G. Wolfenberger of Lincoln, Nebraska to resign. The resolution charged that he had withdrawn the prohibition candidates in the last gubernatorial contest in Nebraska and had supported the Republican candidate. A substitute motion to declare Mr. Wolfenberger's seat vacant was laid on the table. A vote on the resolution was taken, and chairman C. R. Jones announced that a quorum, 42 committeemen were not present. A motion to adjourn sine die was offered. Then Oliver Stewart of Chicago, a member of the executive committee, asked that the adjournment motion be withdrawn to allow him to offer his resignation. A motion to accept the resignation followed.

"I offer a substitute to the resolution to the effect that we respectfully ask all the members of the executive committee to resign," said H. B. Faris of Missouri. There were other speeches and then Secretary W. G. Calderwood of Minnesota offered his resignation from the executive committee. The action of the secretary caused the "Stand Patters" to declare that a plot existed to put the whole executive committee under a cloud.

"This is the worst case of steam roller methods I have ever seen," shouted A. A. Stevens of Pennsylvania. "I was told the scheme was going to be worked this way, but it won't be allowed to work here."

After Calderwood had denied the charges that a plot existed and a dozen fiery speeches were made another effort to get a vote on the demand for the resignations was taken, but there was no quorum and the session adjourned.

NO QUORUM PRESENT.

New York Legislature Must Ballot Every Day Except Sunday.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 27.—The joint legislative assembly showed the smallest attendance today since the legislature began balloting for a United States Senator. Only 60 members were present, 41 less than a quorum, and although the formal ballot was taken at noon, the result was announced as "no choice," owing to the absence of a quorum.

Hopes that the legislature might not be obliged to repeat the perfunctory no quorum ballots of Friday and Saturday after today, provided the deadlock lasts another week, were disappointed today, when Attorney General Carmody presented to the joint assembly a formal opinion that the statute requires a ballot for senator on every day of the week except Sunday.

Norman E. Mack called on Governor Dix today and it is supposed that they discussed the Senatorship situation. The governor said that no overtures has been made to him regarding a "peace conference."

BOTH STEAMERS FLOATED.

The Mohegan and H. M. Whitney Aground, Unharmed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Dense fog that blanketed the harbor and adjacent waters last night and this morning tied up a big fleet of trans-Atlantic liners and coasters down the bay and outside the harbor entrance, and was the cause of the grounding of two steamers in the extreme westerly reaches of Long Island sound. The stranded craft were freighters Mohegan, New York for Providence, and the H. M. Whitney, a metropolitan liner, plying between here and Boston. Both steamers grounded in the vicinity of Throgg's Neck. Neither was believed to be seriously imperilled and this belief was speedily justified in the case of the Mohegan, which was floated, practically undamaged, before the forenoon was far advanced. It was expected that she would proceed on her voyage as soon as the fog lifted. She left this city yesterday for Providence, with a cargo of freight. Neither the Mohegan nor the Whitney carried passengers. Attempts to float the Whitney, it was hoped, would soon prove effective. The agents of the line here expressed no fears for her safety. The dense fog is believed to be responsible for the grounding of both steamers.

There were no reports of accidents from down the bay, but for hours several ship loads of passengers were obliged to wait for the fog to lift and permit the liners seeking port to proceed to their piers. Big turbiner Mauretania, from Liverpool, which anchored off Ambrose channel shortly after 8 o'clock last night, was one of the detained craft.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the observers at the Highlands saw some indications of the fog lifting.

The task of freeing the H. M. Whitney was somewhat harder than the work of floating the Mohegan, but before 10 o'clock the Whitney was hauled safely off the shoal and proceeded for Boston under her own steam. She was apparently none the worse for her experience.

FOR THE GOOD OF THE SERVICE.

Secretary Meyer Asks for Resignation of Admiral E. B. Barry.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—By direction of the President, Secretary of the Navy Meyer asked Admiral E. B. Barry for his resignation. It has been received and accepted today "for the good of the service," according to an announcement made by Secretary Meyer.

FINED FOR LYING.

Gave a Fictitious Name When Pawning a Coat Which He had Taken, Belonging to Another.

A drunk who paid $4.60 was at the police station this morning. Also, one John Sullivan, who was fined $10 and costs, total $12.60, for lying. He did not have the necessary and was committed. It all came about in this way. John spied a coat hanging on the iron railing at Long wharf Thursday, and after asking several if they knew who owned it he passed an appropriation bill and took it. Later the owner of the coat, who was working for the city, appeared and his coat was not there. He found out about it, however, and put Officer Coggeshall on the trail and the officer had John at the police station a short while. He admitted taking the coat, but did not seem to know what he did with it. He had a pawn ticket. The prisoner was pretty drunk and perhaps things would have broken differently for him, but he lied at the pawn shop. He gave a fictitious name when he pawned the coat and that kind of lying is likely to be expensive, since a penalty of six months in jail or a fine of $100 may be the result of such misrepresentation when pawning goods. So John caught it, not for taking the coat, nor yet for being drunk, but for lying.

TAFT TO VISIT THE SOUTH.

President to Speak in Atlanta After Adjournment of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Early in March, immediately after Congress adjourns, President Taft will make a short swing through the south, winding up at his home town, Cincinnati, where he will spend several days before returning to the national capital. The President expects to be away from Washington about a week and the places at which he expects to stop are Anderson, S. C., Atlanta, Nashville, Chattanooga, and Cleveland. He will be in Atlanta March 10, when he will address the Southern Commercial Congress. In Cincinnati he will speak to the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick March 17.

Noon—Operations during the morning were much restricted, but there was a decided undercurrent of firmness in the stock market, all of the important issues [illegible] from yesterday's close, with more substantial improvement in a few selected stocks. Bethelhem Steel was particularly strong in connection with talk of introduction of new interests in the corporation and proposed enlargement of the plant. International Harvester was strong on the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada, which promised to open a larger market for the company's products. There was renewed bullish activity in Norfolk & Western which sent it up 2 points to 106¾. Bonds were steady. Money on call, steady at 2½ per cent; prime mercantile paper 4 to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $340,555,183, balances $20,362,812.

GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION.

Boys and Girls of St. Joseph's School Show Finished Work in Various Contests.

The exhibition of the boys and girls gymnasium classes of St. Joseph's School took place Thursday evening at the Hazard Memorial hall, before a large gathering of friends and parents of those who took part. This exhibition each year attracts a large crowd, and this year was no exception. The classes were under the direction of Mr. Jeremiah Sullivan, who has been in charge of the gymnasium for three seasons and is well fitted for the work, which showed good results. They were made up of both large and small boys, and girls and showed that they had been carefully drilled in the kind of work they had, and had gone into it with the intention of being as nearly perfect as possible.

The program opened with a march in which all the classes took part, the boys leading with the midgets first, and then the girls, also led by the little ones. The marching was good, the time and step being almost perfect. The athletics began with free arm work by the Junior girls, about 50 in number. This ... ended a ... ... was ... continued ... ag as to ... ao it ... Next came the floor drill of the Junior boys which made the hit of the evening, judging by the round of applause it received. It certainly deserved it, as the youngsters did it in creditable style.

This was followed by an Indian club drill by the Senior boys, and this by a free arm drill by the Senior girls, which was done creditably. Next a class of about 40 Junior boys gave a free arm drill which earned them as much applause as their floor drill in the first part. The girls then closed this part of the exhibition with an Indian club drill by the Seniors, which was executed in a finished style. The classes consisted of about 210 boys and girls and were much larger than in the preceding years.

Next on the program was a basket ball game between the Junior girls, in which the Reds defeated the Blues by the score of 2 to 1. This game was the real thing, and the spectators said it had "something" on the boys' game, which was played at the end of the program. The girls were certainly on their job as basket ball players.

Then came a number of contests, resulting as follows:

Walking match, eight smaller girls—First, Miss Edith Brice.

Walking match, larger girls—First Miss Mary Sheehan.

Running race, eight smaller boys—First, John Sullivan.

Larger boys—First, Francis Sullivan.

Potato race—First, Thomas Shreenan.

Sack race, No. 1—First, Fabian Dumphy.

Sack race, No. 2—First, Michael McCarty.

Egg race—First, Francis Dwyer.

Shoe race—First, Bartholomew Moriarty.

This was followed by a basket ball game between the larger girls, which resulted in a victory for the Lavenders, defeating the Reds by the score of 3 to 0.

There was also a boxing match by boys. The two pugilists were blindfolded, equipped with boxing gloves suited to their hands, and started out from either end of the hall. When they reached the middle they met, both delivering blows. One of them, standing in the middle of the floor, feels the presence of his antagonist, and makes a swing which nearly takes him off his feet, and everybody roars. Of course he hits nothing but the air. In this scrap the fighters did meet again, and each delivered a blow which sent the other to the floor. They were not hurt. It was the real thing.

It was now up to two boys' teams to play half of a basket ball game, which closed the exhibition.

The prize, a gold bracelet, for the girl selling the most tickets, was awarded to Miss Catherine Nash, and a gold stick pin, for the boy, to Fabian Dumphy. Master Dumphy also won the same prize last year.

The prizes for the races were small, but pretty pins, with the initials "S. J. ..." engraved ... each, and each of the ... was ... much pleased.

Credit should be given to Rev. Dr. Doran for the way he ... to handle the large crowd of boys and girls. Rev. James Malley, the past ..., was also present and was much pleased with the exhibition.

BEATEN AFTER A TIE.

For Second Time the Y. M. C. A. Lost When It Had a Long Lead, Galahad Winning.

For the second time in the City Basket Ball League series the Young Men's Christian Association team Thursday evening played to a tie, and then lost on the overtime play. The game was with the Galahads and was played in their hall. During the greater part of the contest the Association team looked like a certain winner, but at the end the Galahads pulled up, scoring baskets in rapid succession and finally tying before the whistle blew. In the overtime the Y. M. C. A. lost a chance at a foul goal, after which the Galahads scored on a foul and clinched the game by a basket from the floor, the score being 32 to 29.

The Y. M. C. A. played one substitute. Dwyer was absent and Brack was put in at centre, Harry taking Brack's place in the forward line. Arnold was in Sullivan's place. The team put up a good game, playing fast at all times. In the first half it made seven baskets in succession, giving a long lead. The Galahads, however, pulled up with successive goals cut down the advantage to two points at the end of the half.

The play was decidedly close in the second half, there being no time when there was more than two points' difference in the score. With two minutes to play the Galahads had a lead of ... points, 29 to 27, and Brack tied the score by a cleverly executed throw. ... had a chance to win the game on a try from a foul, but failed. In the overtime Fludder scored from a foul and Robinson made a basket from the floor, giving the game to the Galahads. The line-up was as follows:

Galahads.		Y. M. C. A.
Wernquest, r. f.		l. b., Harry
Gibson, l. f.		r. b., Edward
Robinson, c.		c., Brack
Aldred, r. b.		l. f., Arnold
Fludder, l. b.		r. f., Mohr

Score—Galahads 32; Y. M. C. A. 29. Goals from floor—Wernquest 4, Gibson 4, Robinson 5, Fludder, Aldred; Edward 4, Brack 5, Arnold 2, Mohr. Goals from fouls—Fludder 2; Harry 2, Mohr. Referees—Sullivan and McMahon. Scorer—Johnson. Timer—Jemall. Time—Two 20-minute halves.

The standing of the teams in the league is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Percentage
Father Mathews	6	2	.750
Tigers	5	2	.714
Algonkins	6	3	.667
St. Joseph's	5	3	.625

FOR MR. BEATTIE'S MEDITERRANEAN TRIP.

Rev. C. F. Beattie of St. John's Church will sail from New York on steamer Cleveland ... of the Hamburg line. The ship has nearly 400 tourists and will call at 23 ports in the Mediterranean, covering in all 13,995 miles in ... days. To insure comfort on so long a cruise, the number of passengers was restricted to 400, so that all might dine at one sitting. With numerous inland excursions, the tourists will cover nearly all the countries bordering the Mediterranean—Spain, France, Italy, Greece, Palestine, Turkey, Egypt and Algiers. A novelty will be a ride across the desert to the ... of Damascus, previously made by caravan, but now traversed in a few hours by automobile. All details of travel were completed long in advance and the tourists will make the cruising steamer a base of operation. Practically every state in the Union is represented in the sailing list.

A "BIRTHDAY" SOCIAL.

The "Birthday" social of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Thursday evening in the Sunday School room, was a real social. In spite of the disagreeable weather, keeping away many who had planned to be present there were about 60 in attendance, and all had a jolly time. Each person contributing a sum equal to the number of years lived, there was a total offering of about $25, which is expected to be increased by those who were not able to be out.

Miss Titcomb, president of the society, was in charge of the program, which included recitations by Ruth and Helen Cooper, soprano solo by Mabel Simpson, alto solo by Mrs. Godfrey King, monologues by Mr. E. ... Andrews, a song by Miss Emily Bradley, soprano and alto duet by Mrs. W. H. Tibbetts and Miss Florence Allen and a duet for violin and piano by Master Lewis Anderson and Miss Bessie Anderson. Most of these received encores and all were cordially applauded. At the close cake, crackers and coffee were served by the committee.

"STEEPLE TOM" IN WASHINGTON.

Thomas Fitzpatrick, "Steeple Tom," who painted the spire of Trinity church last autumn, sends to The News a newspaper clipping, with picture describing his painting of the cupola of the Post building in Washington, D. C., the picture showing Steeple Tom on the pole 200 feet from the ground. The newspaper article says Tom is looking after the contract for cleaning the statue of the Goddess of Liberty on the dome of the Capitol in Washington.

With the clipping was enclosed also one of Fitzpatrick's business cards, on the back of which is an excellent reproduction of a photograph of Trinity church, showing Fitzpatrick and his assistant on the iron of the spire, 234 feet above the ground, removing the large ball to be re-gilded.

CROSSING BELLEVUE AVENUE IN THE MUD.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

I found no way today of crossing Bellevue avenue between Levin street and Catherine street where the mud was not over the top of rubber shoes. Even at these two crossings it was much too deep for comfort.

Oh! for the days long ago, when the boys swept the crossings, and for a few pennies one could get across dry-shod!

POLICE STATION SITES.

Moorcroft and Jurgens Properties Have the Most and Strongest Advocates.

Breeze Estate and Old City Hall Also Urged at the Council Committee Hearing.

The committee of the Representative Council appointed to select a site for a new police station held a hearing in the Council chamber at the City Hall Thursday evening, to receive offers and suggestions regarding locations. It was not very largely attended, not more than 30 being present, but all those present seemed interested in the matter under discussion and the committee received a number of valuable suggestions. It was a hearing worth while, as those who spoke voiced freely their approval or objections to the various sites, the addresses being generally to the point and clearly stated. One new site was presented, the Breese estate on the corner of Thames and Gidley streets, which coming from a section of the city not previously offering a location may introduce a new element in the controversy.

Chairman William Williams presided and the other members of the committee present were Messrs. John M. Friend, Herbert L. Dyer and Fred M. Hammett. Chairman Williams said that the object of the hearing was to enable the committee to receive as many possible sites as may be, and also to receive sugestions which may aid in making a selection.

M. A. Sullivan was the first speaker, in behalf of the Breese estate on the corner of Thames and Gidley streets. This lot contains 8,280 square feet, with a frontage of 60 feet on Thames street and a depth of 160 feet on Gidley. It is on two highways, affording ample room on which to erect a police station as planned by last year's committee, with a stable in the rear, if necessary, separate from the main building. The price is $3,600. When asked who are the owners, Mr. Sullivan said he represented E. O. Riggs, agent of the property.

J. Powell Cozzens advocated the Jurgens estate on Mill street, which had already been offered to the committee. This, he said, has many advantages over the other sites. It is centrally located, halfway between Washington square and the postoffice, and nearer Bellevue avenue than any other. The price is favorable. The lot contains 10,000 square feet, 100 by 100, which gives ample room to place the building back from the street, with from 35 to 40 feet clear space on the west for light and air. This would give opportunity for an attractive front. There is only one small building on the land to be removed. The objection to this site, that it is near the schoolhouse, did not seem to him a serious one. In other cities police stations are placed near schoolhouses, and in one Massachusetts city the two buildings are so close that they are heated by the same apparatus.

Frank F. Nolan said he did not appear as favoring any particular site, but wished to impress upon the committee the disadvantages of a location far away from the court house or jail, which would necessitate the unpleasant spectacle of the patrol wagon carrying prisoners through the business streets. The station should be as near as possible to the jail. The site back of the court house is an ideal one if the land can be obtained at a price not exorbitant. The Moorcroft site and the one on Charles street are also good. In the name of public decency, he urged the selection of a site near the jail. The Jurgens estate is good in many respects, but he did not belive the people of Newport would approve a site which will bring the spectacle of the patrol wagon carrying prisoners before the eyes of the school children.

Henry C. Bacheller said his experience of half a century had made him opposed to the present location. There are many persons coming and going by the Jamestown ferries and the location of the police station directly in their path is undesirable. We must make our approaches attractive. He thought the Moorcroft site ideal, as it would concentrate the police business in one locality. It has the advantage of being on three streets, facing a park, and is near both the jail and the court house. It would be possible to connect the jail and the station by a covered bridge, so that prisoners may be taken from one building to the other without being seen. He had been a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years, and he had yet to hear any one object to the jail in the vicinity. If the jail is not a nuisance to the neighborhood, he saw no reason why the police station should be. In addition, he said the location is central, in the centre of the "Tenderloin" district, between West Broadway and Washington square.

Fred P. Lee said he saw no better site than the Jurgens estate on Mill street. The objections on account of its nearness to the schoolhouse are not well founded; as the schools are not in session while the main part of the police business is being carried out. It is near Bellevue avenue, is large enough to give plenty of air on all sides of the buildings, and by putting it back from the street, the station could be made attractive! He is strongly opposed to the present site on Market square, because of the congestion of traffic.

Charles F. D. Fayerweather opposed the present location and favored the Moorcroft site for the new station. This gives three sides open to traffic, it is opposite a pretty little park, and close to the railroad station, Long wharf and the jail. It could be connected with the jail by a bridge or subterranean passage. If there is not room on the ground there is plenty in the air, and it will be possible to build up as far as is necessary.

P. H. Horgan spoke at considerable length. He is opposed to the present location and favors the Jurgens site, which he regards as ideal. The principal objection to it, he said, is its nearness to the schoolhouse, but he did not think this serious. He had been passing the police station many times a day in the summer for years, going and coming from Jamestown, and it is on rare occasions that he has found anything objectionable in the building. At times it has been so quiet that it reminded him more of a morgue. The station is as a rule a quiet place, particularly during the day. A station located on the Jurgens estate would not be an injury to the children, as there would be little of a disagreeable nature during the time they are about or in the school.

The price is reasonable, ... cents a foot; it would be cheap at ... a foot. There is ample room for the station, with the stable, morgue and everything objectionable placed in the rear out of sight. The building would have plenty of air and light. It is easy of access, and nearer Wellington avenue, Harrison avenue and lower Thames street, where there is considerable police business.

Mr. Horgan then launched into a new field, speaking of the lack of enterprise in Newport and the need of a hotel here. Newport, he said, has better scenic and climatic advantages than any other city, but lacks a hotel. He paid his compliments to the latest movement, saying that in the list of promoters there is only one man who is enterprising and will do anything. The trouble, he said, is that we do not take interest enough, and there is not only a lack of enterprise but also a lack of harmony.

Mr. Nolan repeated the objections which he had stated earlier in the evening, regarding the distressing scenes which are frequently witnessed when the patrol wagon carries unfortunates from the police station to the jail, and reiterated his arguments in favor of a site near the latter.

Mr. Cozzens said he did not think it would be necessary to have the school children look in at the windows of the police station if it were placed on Mill street. The court room could be placed in the rear, and the building, set back from the street, could have a hedge in front of it, so that none of the disagreeable features complained of would prevail. The morning sessions of the court are usually held at 9 o'clock, after the schol children are off the street.

Mr. Lee said he had found that a large majority of the citizens with whom he had talked are in favor of the Jurgens site. The objections to Mill street might be applied to the Farewell street school if the station were placed in that vicinity.

H. B. Wood was the last speaker. He began by complimenting the committee on having the hearing. It had formerly been the custom to discuss public matters in back shops, and he was glad that now there is an opportunity to talk over things in a public meeting.

He thought it would be a great mistake to locate the police station opposite a schoolhouse. There is always something about a police station which we prefer to keep from the children. It is impossible to prevent them from knowing that the station is there, and they, as children always do, will look for the wagon, curious to see who is in it.

He objected to locating the station on Marlboro street, as a neighbor. As long as the jail is there, he has no serious objection to it. It is a fine building, well kept and well conducted, but there are times, especially in the summer, when the windows are open, when it is objectionable. He did not wish to have the police station in the neighborhood, with possibly more of the objectionable features of the jail. One institution of the kind is enough for the neighborhood.

Mr. Wood then launched into a scheme for widening the upper part of Long wharf, a portion of Thames street, the removal of the old City Hall to the south and west and its use as a police station. Conservation, the making the most of what one has, is the order of the day. This project would serve several desirable purposes. It would rid Long wharf of several old tumble-down buildings, give a decent sidewalk on the south and widen the upper part of the highway on the wharf. Then it would make an opportunity for widening Thames street at a congested point. Furthermore, the old City Hall, which was built in 1763, designed by one of the best architects of his day, is still an attractive building and ought to be preserved for its historic associations. It could be moved back and to the south, raised and made one of the city's attractions. It would serve well as a police station, with approaches on two wharves if need be, and with plenty of air and light on all sides. This is a good time to make a desirable improvement in many ways.

There being no others to speak, Chairman Williams adjourned the hearing. Another will be held next Tuesday evening, when objectors to any or all the sites proposed will be given further opportunity to be heard.

MR. FENNO COMING HERE.

Bible Teachers' Training Class and Enlisted Men's Total Abstinence League Work.

The weekly Bible teachers' training class at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association was unusually well attended Wednesday. Two new members were added, and the lesson from the Enlisted Men's Bible and Prayer League calendar was studied in preparation for the Home Hour Bible classes Sunday.

The Enlisted Men's Total Abstinence League held its regular meeting Thursday evening, the west room being crowded. After the business was dispensed of the members and others present enjoyed an hour in the dark with the stereopticon, consisting of an illustrated talk by one of the secretaries. Seaman Denison of the Torpedo Station operated the stereopticon. Nineteen signed pledges and joined the League.

The Home Hour Bible Club will go to the Emmanuel Church guild hall Sunday next, where luncheon will be served by the members of St. Martha's Guild. The following program will be carried out at the conclusion of the luncheon: Hymn, enlisted men; talk, William Saunders, ordinary seaman, Training Station; vocal solo, Clinton Clark, apprentice seaman; hymn, all joining; talk, G. L. Thompson, apprentice seaman; short presentation of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association work, one of the secretaries; closing remarks, Rev. Dr. Porter.

Mr. W. E. Fenno, religious work secretary and evangelist of the Army and Navy Association, will spend a week in Newport, beginning February 7. He will speak at Fort Adams, the Torpedo Station, Training Station, First Presbyterian Church and at the Association rooms. Mr. Fenno is well known among the enlisted men, and has a message for them.

HEARD AND SEEN AT THE BIJOU.

Gilbert E. Josee, who appeared Thursday for the first time at the Bijou Theatre has a phenomenal voice, being able easily to reach high C in soprano and E flat in bass. His singing was much enjoyed by the large audiences assembled in the evening in spite of the rain, and he was obliged to respond to eight encores. Robert C. Mellio, in an act as hand balancer and a study in physical culture, gave an unusual exhibition of strength and physical manhood. Louis Foucher, claiming to be the champion trick bicycle rider of the world, did some new and startling tricks on a bicycle, such as jumping the rope, going up and down stairs, etc. This is the same young man who was one of the attractions at the Brockton fair last fall, making a flying leap of 60 feet on a bicycle and landing in a large tank of water.

UNIFORM SIDEWALKS IN NEW LONDON.

As the result of action taken by the common council, New London will be one of the first cities in the United States to have uniform sidewalks throughout. It has been voted to lay 30½ miles of granolithic walk at an expense of $144,000. Work will begin in the spring and two years will be required before it is completed.
